Seething Nation Waits Hitler's New Decision On Future Nazi Program

Two Groups, Headed by Joseph Goebbels and Rudolph Hess, in Struggle for "The Capture of the Soul of Hitler."

HITLER RETURNS

Change of Nazi Policy, Rather Than Overthrow of Hitler, Is Probable Outcome of Strife.

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
(Copyright 1934 by The Associated Press)

The chancellor came back to Berlin after several days of quiet reflection in his mountain home—reflection following growing outbursts against radical Nazi policies.

Two groups began powerful efforts to have him take their side. It is a struggle for "the capture of the soul of Hitler", one cabinet minister said.

On the one hand there was the radical young wing of impetuous revolutionaries, typified by Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, and Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, philosophic dictator of the Third Reich.

They insist the Nazi revolution has just begun and that no loyal German can be satisfied until the Nazis exclusively control every phase of German life and endeavor, including religion.

Brought Jung Arrest

This group was credited with bringing the arrest by secret police of Edgar Jung, publicist who gathered material for the speech of Vice Chancellor Franz Von Papen June 17 which touched off the battle between conservatives and radicals.

It was this faction that Hitler rebuked yesterday by refusing to dissolve the Steel Helmet War Veterans' organization, "backbone" of the conservative movement.

On the other side, bidding for Hitler's backing, was an older group of realistic—"sub-leaders" like Rudolph Hess, minister without portfolio; Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior, and Hermann Wilhelm Goering, minister of aviation, who believe it is not wise to regiment people strictly. They want a social state in which private initiative and property are recognized—not a quasi-communist one.

Von Papen expressed the fear of the propertied class in his suppressed speech when he exclaimed: "Have we gone through an anti-Marxist revolution merely to make reality of the Marxist program?"

Conservatives, on the other hand, are supported not only by those who by nature and upbringing are moderate, but also by those who opposed national socialism from the moment it transferred from politics to religion.

Had Powerful Aid

When Von Papen issued his strictures he knew he could count upon powerful bodies to begin with—the Reichwehr or federal army; the Stahlhelm, or Society of Stell Helmet War Veterans; venerable President Von Hindenburg; all landed aristocracy; the large Catholic element of Germany; and many protestants who had not turned German Christians.

His office let inquirers know that the vice chancellor's motto is "never anything against or without Hitler."

The other conservatives seem likewise determined that Hitler's person shall not be affected by the struggle. They hope to persuade the chancellor he must part company with or at least render powerless, the extremists of his movement.

The guess of those who think the Nazi system is likely to undergo fundamental changes would at this stage seem more correct than the guess of those who look for an early overthrow of Hitler and his supplantation by either a military dictator or a monarch.

SHERIFF SAXE BUYS LOCKWOOD FARM.

Sheriff John Saxe has purchased the 126 acres farm from the Lockwood brothers on the Plank road. Improvements will be made to the house and buildings and Sheriff Saxe intends to stock the farm and operate it. The farm is located a short distance from the city and while at present it is in a run down condition, in the past it has been one of the most productive farms in this locality.

DOCTORS FEAR FOR LIFE OF MARIE DRESSLER

Santa Barbara, Calif., June 28 (AP)—Marie Dressler's prolonged illness had reached a critical stage today and a nurse was in constant attendance on the 66-year-old actress.

Our Growing Population

Mr. and Mrs. William Kelly of Port Ewen a son, William Francis, at Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson of 225 Smith avenue, a daughter, Barbara Lorraine, at Benedictine Hospital.

53rd Commencement Exercises Of Kingston Grammar Schools

Largest Class From Local Grade Schools Held Exercises Wednesday at High School Auditorium—Two Prizes Awarded By American Legion—Program Presented Was An Excellent One—The Graduates.

The fifty-third commencement exercises of the Kingston grammar schools was held Wednesday afternoon, June 27, at the Kingston High School auditorium, at which time the largest class to date from the grade schools was graduated and the auditorium was packed to the doors with their friends to witness the exercises.

The window ledges again came into excellent and artistic service as they held innumerable baskets of flowers, gifts for the 160 graduates.

An innovation in the form of a processional with orchestral accompaniment by the class members to the stage, passing through the auditorium, was greatly appreciated as it offered a way for parents and friends to recognize their children who would otherwise not be seen individually, though it was the graduation of each individual boy and girl. Perhaps in January some plan will be devised so that all of the graduates will be enabled to pass up to the president of the board of education to receive their diplomas, given to the leader of each school.

The afternoon's program was a particularly excellent one in every way and the words of congratulation and appreciation from Superintendent Van Ingen and President Beeres, and also from the chaplain of the American Legion, meant a great deal to both the graduates and the audience.

The program opened with a trumpet trio, played remarkably well by three of the grammar school lads, the numbers being "Onward Christian Soldiers" by Sullivan and "Sweet and Low" by Barnby.

John Dugan of School No. 3 gave the first recitation of "The Disagreeable Man" by W. S. Gilbert. He was a very agreeable and clear speaking "Disagreeable Man", winning hearty applause.

Alfred A. Cecelia of School No. 4 gave a fine and very understanding recitation entitled "Chivalry" by Mee.

Going into the classics, "The Choice of Hercules," by R. E. Francillon was the chosen topic of the recitation by Ruth L. Hunt of School No. 5, admirably given.

Then came another agreeable surprise. This time the vocal music was by the entire graduating class. They sang a cappela. "The Northman" by Avery and "Hard A-Lee" by E. S. Hosmer, keeping in good pitch and singing in parts very nicely. Miss Quimby led them.

"The Vision of Youth"

The next number on the program was extraordinary in every way. The title of the recitation was "The Vision of Youth," with the author unknown. It was given by Helene Gregory of School No. 6. The main theme of the recitation was to the effect that the generation of young people just going out from our high schools and colleges are not at all the "lost generation", but the generation of their parents is. The article frankly and constructively criticized that older generation and held out reasonably and envisioned ideals for the youth of today. Miss Gregory possessed unusual poise and a vibrant voice that had more than the usual training in speaking, and her comprehension of her subject was remarkably forthright.

Another good recitation well given by Martha Jean Bernstein of School No. 7 was "Better than Gold," by A. Smart.

Winona M. Watrous of School No. 8 recited nicely, Edgar A. Guest's "The Making of Friends."

Here the program was pleasingly varied with another song by the graduating class, "Song of Parting," by Behr, being the selection.

Lee Gerrow of School No. 1 was excellent in his recitation "A Sermon in Rhyme," author unknown.

The last recitation was one of the best. It was "The Glory of Toil" by E. D. Proctor and was given by Blanch Navy of School No. 2, whose resonant voice could well bear special training and who showed dramatic ability in interpreting her subject.

American Legion Prizes

This year the American Legion, No. 150, offered two prizes—one for the January graduation and the other for the June graduation—for the boy or girl having the highest standing in Elementary United States History. The awarding of these prizes had been assigned to the chaplain of the Legion, the Rev. Clarance E. Brown. The Rev. Mr. Brown explained that coming to the grammar school commencement, he found himself in a unique position. Two weeks ago he attended a college commencement; this week he attended the Kingston High School commencement and now he was present at the grammar school commencement. It looked as though he were going backward. Mr. Brown then told of the wish of the American Legion to stimulate the boys and girls of the city to study more carefully and thoroughly the history of our country that they might become better informed American citizens and also that they might gain from that study a wiser outlook on the future that they are facing. It was his pleasure first to award the medal for the January prize and that was given to Joseph G. Gilday of School No. 5. The American Legion does not discriminate as to public and parochial school children as winners of

Darrow Board Drafts Reply to NRA Attack On False Material Use

Johnson Says Second Report Is More Inaccurate And Inconsequential Than First—Board Prepares Its Third Report.

Washington, June 28 (AP).—Friction between the NRA and the Darrow review board stirred up more sparks today as Hugh S. Johnson accused the board of issuing "false material," and the Darrow group promptly drafted a counter-attack.

General Johnson, in a biting criticism of the second Darrow report, attached replies by Donald R. Richberg, NRA's general counsel, and twelve administrators.

"The report," Johnson said, "Is even more inaccurate and inconsequential than the first."

Charles E. Russell, assistant to Clarence Darrow, told newsmen the board "likely will issue a statement in reply shortly."

The NRA administrator said certain of the board's statements were typical of "the unfairness, untruth, temper, spirit, and utter worthlessness of these reports:" that it had not produced "so much as one little drachm of evidence that there is any monopoly or oppression at all."

The Darrow board, except for time spent in considering a direct reply, went right ahead on its third report. Russell said it was "very nearly complete" and probably will be presented to President Roosevelt within two days.

The White House has been made the sounding board for the hurling of hot adjectives by both sides. Mr. Roosevelt has said nothing, but merely has made both reports and counter-reports available for publication.

If Johnson replies to the third report he may have the last word. Russell said the board would carry out original intentions to close up shop by July 1. The forthcoming report, like the second, will criticize a dozen or so individual codes.

100-Mile Belt of Trees From Canada to Texas, President's Proposal

Gigantic Program Would Require 10 to 12 Years to Complete and Would Aim to Minimize Drouth And Prevent Winds From Stripping Farmlands.

Washington, June 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt is considering a proposal to plant a "shelter belt" of trees 100 miles wide and stretching from Canada to the Texas Panhandle.

The gigantic program, which would require 10 to 12 years to complete, would aim to minimize drouth and help prevent winds from stripping farmlands of their choice soil.

The plan was announced today by the American Tree Association. F. A. Silcox, chief forester of the United States Forest Service, acknowledged it was under consideration.

The President may make his decision before he leaves Saturday for Hawaii. The plan is being studied by the budget bureau, Attorney General Cummings and other officials.

The planting in the 100-mile wide area would be in strips, running north and south. First there would be a strip of trees, perhaps 7½ rods across, then a strip of land which would remain devoted to its present use, such as farming; then another strip of trees, and so on alternately.

There would be 100 strips of trees, or one to a mile, and thus most of the 100 mile wide area would remain unforested. The shelter belt would stretch 1,300 miles through North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, and Oklahoma to the Texas border.

The cost was estimated at $75,000,000. At least part of this would come out of drouth funds to start the program this year by collecting seed, establishing nurseries, and organizing the work.

Board of Education Asking For Bids

In this issue of The Freeman the Board of Education is advertising for bids for work to be done in and around city schools.

The advertisements are for the erection of a fence on the concrete wall at School No. 5, for painting woodwork and walls in Kingston High School and for plumbing work in School No. 1, Wilbur.

More definite information concerning the work is given in the advertisements, which give the dates for filing bids and give the board the right to reject any or all bids.

WAR ANNIVERSARY

Explosions Occur in Several Places on Anniversary of Assassination of Archduke Ferdinand.

Vienna, June 28 (AP)—Widespread bombing outrages broke out in Austria today one of which was said possibly to have been directed at Louis Barthou, French foreign minister.

The main line of a railroad near Bludenz was shattered by a bomb. Trains were delayed for several hours, but one bearing Barthou to Paris missed the explosion.

Widespread property damage accompanied the disorders, on the twentieth anniversary of the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand at Sarajevo, Bosnia.

A police captain died of injuries received in a political clash at Graz. Rails were blown up at Judenberg, in Styria, and telephone cables were dynamited at Meuhlau, near Innsbruck, was disabled.

The bombing outrages followed a clash at Graz between Austrian troops and members of the Fascist Heimwher (home guard) in which a number of the latter were injured.

Tore Down Pictures

Not only did the soldiers beat the Heimwehrmen, theoretically the mainstay of the Dolfuss government, but they tore down pictures of Prince Ernst Von Starhemberg, vice chancellor and a powerful government figure.

A time bomb was discovered by a watchman who tossed it off the roof into a garden cafe next door and the explosion was so violent that it not only wrecked the cafe, but caused considerable damage to the printing plant.

In the cities of Ruetz, Aachensee and Hall, electric power plants were dynamited and additional railway bombings were reported at Hohenems, Dirbirn and other points in Vorarlberg province, which Chancellor Dollfuss is scheduled to visit tomorrow.

Camp Wendy to Open On Saturday July 7

Camp Wendy, the Ulster County Girl Scout camp at Wallkill will open for the season, Saturday, July 7.

Miss Dorothy Schroeder, who was in charge last year, will again be the director of the camp. Many of last year's counsellors have been retained, also.

Camp activities consist of swimming, basketry, handicraft, dramatis, educational hikes, all outdoor sports, with a capable director in charge of each.

Whether she attends the one week encampment, or spends the entire season there, the girl at Wendy will find her time well, and pleasantly filled.

Applications are being filed rapidly and any girls who have not yet sent in their applications are urged to do this as quickly as possible.

Treasury Receipts.

Washington, June 28 (AP).—The position of the treasury June 26 was: Receipts, $6,422,632.89; expenditures, $12,794,187.00; balance, $2,622,106,728.94. Customs receipts for the month, $18,013,461.00. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $2,083,408,379.35; expenditures, $6,949,595,361.08 (including $3,893,092,547.58 of emergency expenditures); excess of expenditures, $3,866,186,981.72. Gold assets, $7,844,352,446.44.

In Police Court

Clarence M. Smith of Newark, N. J., arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct Wednesday evening, was discharged when the charge was withdrawn by Mrs. A. E. Smith of Broadway. Charles Bell of Washington avenue, arrested for public intoxication; was fined $5 and payment of the fine was suspended.

Uptown Business Men Seeking Relief From Big Parking Problem

Request Police Chief That Problem Be Relieved By Elimination of Cars Owned by Workers From Wall Street.

INVOKE ORDINANCE

There Is a One-Hour Parking Limit in Existence on Wall Street For This Purpose.

A meeting of the Uptown Business Men's Association was held this morning at 8 o'clock at McCabe's restaurant on Wall street, at which time matters of interest to the members of the association were discussed. The meeting was not called to act on the formation of a Code Authority in Kingston.

One of the matters taken up was that of parking in the business sections uptown. The meeting went on record as being in favor of requesting Chief of Police Wood to see that the parking problem was relieved by the elimination of cars owned by clerks and employes from Wall street. For a long time merchants have requested that clerks and employes park their cars in the public parking space rather than on the street in front of stores where they remained all day. This request has not been heeded by many and it is a common sight to see many cars of clerks parked along the street all day.

In order that this parking space may be made available to people who desire to shop in the business section the members of the association voted to request Chief Wood to lend his aid. There is a one-hour parking limit in existence on Wall street and this ordinance can be invoked to clear away the cars of employes so that customers may have access to the spaces.

REDS PICK CALIFORNIA FOR THE REVOLT CENTER.

San Francisco, June 28 (AP).—Official reports disclosed today that California has been selected as a focal point in the Communist world-wide revolutionary movement.

The reports followed acting Governor Frank F. Merriam's recent declaration that the state has adequate laws to deal effectively with both violence and incitement.

Recent strikes in the rich Imperial and San Joaquin agricultural sections were declared by Albert Hogardy, Sacramento Communist organizer, to be part of a widespread revolutionary program aimed at overthrow of established governments.

U. S. MARINES TO ENLIST ABOUT 16,000 RECRUITS

New York, June 28 (AP)—The United States Marine Corps' invitation to "join the marines for adventure, travel and experience in foreign lands," long a hollow gesture, will again be extended in good faith after July 1.

On that day the personnel of the Marine Corps will be increased from 15,000 to 16,000 because of a recent act of Congress and hundreds of young men who have been on waiting lists will be inducted into the corps. The same opportunity will be open to hundreds of others who can meet the strict entrance requirements of the corps.

STATE TO SELL A HUGE BOND ISSUE FOR RELIEF.

Albany, N. Y., June 28 (AP).—New York state will sell a $30,000,000 bond issue today to provide funds for emergency unemployment relief, maturing $2,000,000 annually from 1935 to 1944, inclusive.

The issue will be awarded by State Comptroller Morris Tremaine to the bidder submitting the lowest interest cost to the state on the entire amount.

The comptroller, in announcing the sale, said the state's net debt on last June 15 was $520,272,827.40, about 1.98 per cent of the total assessed valuation of the real and personal property subject to taxation.

BERLIN ISSUES FOREIGN TRADE RULING TODAY

Berlin, June 28 (AP)—Foreign minister Konstantin Von Neurath's deliberate emphasis on Germany's desperate need to develop foreign trade was followed today by announcement that the government henceforward would award no public contracts to firms neglecting their export business.

SAN FRANCISCO PARALYSIS VICTIM OUT OF DANGER

San Francisco, June 28 (AP)—Robert Baldwin, 7, who became ill after an injection of contaminated infantile paralysis serum which caused the death of his 2-year old brother, Jackie, was reported "out of danger" today.

Will Open Office

Robert K. Storey, Jr., of Brooklyn, will open a law office in the Leventhal building on Wall street, in the office formerly occupied by F. E. W. Darrow. The office will be a branch of Mr. Storey's office at 150 Nassau street, New York city.

Housing Bill Signed Into Law Today By President Roosevelt

Measure Is Intended To Increase Construction Also Repairs of Homes

THREE MAJOR MOVES

Roosevelt Reserving Good Portion of Day Preparing His Talk To Be Given Tonight.

Washington, June 28 (AP).—President Roosevelt today signed into law the housing bill intended to aid in reviving industry by increasing home construction and repair.

The legislation is calculated to make available several hundred millions for new homes and modernization through government insurance of private loans for this purpose.

The President prepared to set up immediately the machinery to put the housing program into operation. He is counting upon this step to aid employment as well as to improve living conditions.

Nearing the end of the stack of bills passed in the closing days of Congress, Mr. Roosevelt still reserved decision on the farm mortgage moratorium, the railway pension and the Taylor grazing measures.

He had these on his desk for decision today but was reserving a good portion of the day for the preparation of his talk to the nation over the air tonight. He did not expect to write and finish this report to the people until late in the day.

Three major moves have already been made in the broad plan to aid home owners:

The interstate commerce commission has been given power to reduce railroad rates on shipments of building materials.

The construction industry has taken steps to reduce material costs by 10 to 15 per cent.

Negotiations have been started with construction labor to reduce wages.

It will be 30 days, officials said, before the machinery will be complete enough for the lagging construction industry to show any substantial improvement. But banks were reported to have increased their lending activities in anticipation of the right to insure loans.

How the Plan Wil lWork

When everything is ready, the plan will work about like this:

A man has a $10,000 home. He is good credit, and a bank holds an $8,000 mortgage against that home. Because of uncertain conditions, however, the bank is not sure that the $8,000 mortgage is a 100 per cent asset.

It asks the federal housing administrator to insure the mortgage. After proper investigation, and the payment of a fee of not less than one half of one per cent, the administrator may insure the mortgage. He may even accept it himself and pay the cash to the bank.

No individual mortgage insured may be for longer than 20 years, bear more than six per cent interest, or be for more than 80 per cent of the appraised value of the property the day the mortgage is executed. Nor may an insured home mortgage exceed $16,000. Such mortgages also may be insured on new homes.

Another phase of the bill allows the federal housing administrator to insure up to 20 per cent of the total loans made by a bank for modernization and repair.

These loans may be simple personal notes and for the smaller sums, officials say, they probably will be. No loan in this category could exceed $2,000.

National Mortgage Associations

To help the home owner find a market for his mortgage, the bill authorizes the creation of national mortgage associations, which are empowered to rediscount the paper. They must have a $5,000,000 capital and may have stock outstanding to a total of $50,000,000.

To encourage depositing in Building and Loan Associations, the bill sets up an insurance system for them. After passing required examinations as to soundness, and paying a minimum of one-fourth of one per cent of their total deposits, these associations may tell any depositors that he is insured against loss on any deposit up to $5,000.

Furthermore, the capital of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation is increased from $2,000,000,000 to $3,000,000,000, the new money to be used for refinancing existing mortgages. And $100,000,000 of the increase is ear-marked for modernization and repaid loans through Building and Loan Associations.

A ten per cent reduction in the price on lumber and building materials was ordered today by the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association to aid the administration's housing program.

Floods in India.

Calcutta, June 28 (AP).—Two hundred deaths, 1,500 square miles of territory submerged, and 100 villages destroyed were reported today in dispatches filtering through from the devastating floods of Assam.

Dairymen Launch a New Drive Based on Advertising Methods

Farmers Feel Their Position Can Be Further Improved By An Attempted Drive to Educate The Public in The Use of Milk.

Albany, N. Y., June 28 (AP)—New York's 100,000 dairy farmers, after two years of battling threatened bankruptcy and ruin, are about ready to launch their new drive for business based on modern advertising methods.

A year of state milk control having staved off the financial disaster that threatened the entire industry early in 1933, the dairymen now feel that their position can be further improved by an attempted drive to educate the public in the use of milk.

Commissioner of Agriculture Charles H. Baldwin, the advisory milk advertising board, and the advertising agency which will conduct the campaign, have nearly completed their plans. Milk will be advertised first as a source of good health, and second as an economical food. The commissioner and his associates were said at the offices of the State Milk Control Board today to be engaged now in "looking up lists of newspapers" in which the milk advertising will be run.

"We may be ready to begin advertising July 15," one official said.

An office is being assigned today to T. Elmer Bogardus, a former Syracuse newspaperman and farm expert, who will actively direct the advertising campaign.

About $1,000,000 will be put into advertising. The whole campaign was made possible by the 1934 legislature which appropriated $500,000 and authorized the election of an advertising tax of one cent on every 100 pounds of fluid milk handled by a dealer.

Since there are 47 quarts in 100 pounds of milk, this tax amounts to less than one cent a month on the milk delivered to the household which now uses one quart a day.

The state department will levy this tax against dealers. They, in turn, may require farmers from whom they buy milk, to share half of the tax burden with them. This privilege was given the dealers by the legislature but it was explained at the tax department that "any dealers who are big-hearted enough" to pay the tax themselves, may do so.

Flood Gates Of War Opened Twenty Years Ago Today At Sarajevo

(By The Associated Press)

Today is the anniversary of monumental murder.

The blood that streamed that day from the bullet hole in that archducal throat spread, a red flood, over the earth. Before that flood was stopped November 11, 1918, it had claimed twenty five million men—dead, wounded, maimed, broken.

Today in Vienna bombs were hurled, damaging government railways and power plants. It were as though the crack of Princep's pistol twenty years ago hadn't been loud enough to carry down through the years; as though new violence were somehow needed to refresh memories quickly dead.

Gavrilo Princep was 19 years old and had a grievance.

Remapped Europe; and Dug five million—and more—graves.

An Austrian court, which could not see into the future, decided that fit punishment for Princep would be life imprisonment. They sent him to a cell—him who sent the world to catastrophy. There he died.

Foxhall Avenue To Have Kyrock Street

TERA Expect to Start Work of Laying Kyrock on That Avenue on Friday—Base Has Been Prepared For the Top—Hudson Street Sewer Job Nearly Completed.

The local TERA expect to start the work of laying Kyrock on Foxhall avenue on Friday morning. The base has been prepared and the street has been made ready for the laying of the pavement.

Work on the Hudson street sewer is progressing and the job is reported as being nearly completed. Considerable rock has been encountered and it was necessary to do considerable blasting in order to lay the sewer. There had never been a sewer in this street.

E. Kingston School Annual Picnic

After a very busy but happy school year School No. 7, East Kingston, closed last Friday with its annual picnic. The day was ideal and, strange though it may seem, the pupils didn't seem overjoyed at leaving for the long vacation.

Elementary Arithmetic — Anthony Rua, 97; Virginia Salvino, 100; Isabel Watzka, 100; Ella Guida, 92; Frank Saccoman, 80; Frank Chick, 86; Mary Naggy, 93; Julia Guida, 93; Jacob Francis, 100.

U. S. History and Civics—Anthony Rua, 100; Virginia Salvino, 96; Isabel Watzka, 98; Ella Guida, 96; Frank Saccoman, 92; Frank Chick, 91; Mary Naggy, 82; Julia Guida, 83; Jacob Francis, 85; Alice Tierney, 85.

Silent Reading — Anthony Rua, 97; Virginia Salvino, 96; Isabel Watzka, 86; Ella Guida, 86; Frank Saccoman, 75; Frank Chick, 88; Mary Naggy, 87; Julia Guida, 90; Jacob Francis, 83; Alice Tierney, 87.

Writing—Anthony Rua, 95; Virginia Salvino, 95; Isabel Watzka, 85; Ella Guida, 90; Frank Saccoman, 80; Frank Chick, 85; Mary Naggy, 90; Julia Guida, 90; Jacob Francis, 90.

Geography, Seventh Grade—Josephine Fuscardo, 88; Rose Tiano, 88; Bertha Naggy, 86; Violet Rittie, 85; Lillian Carpino, 79; Louise Amato, 75; William Scism, 75; John Cassidy, 75.

The members of this year's graduating class, each having completed the subjects required for the regents preliminary certificate, making them eligible for entrance into High School next September are: Anthony Rua, Virginia Salvino, Isabel Watzka, Ella Guida, Frank Saccoman, Frank Chick, Mary Naggy, Julia Guida, Jacob Francis.

Ella Guida, a member of this year's class, brought a great honor to this school during the past year by winning the American Legion Auxiliary medal. An essay contest conducted by the Americanism committee was open to all pupils in rural schools of Ulster county, 150 essays being sent in. The judges had great difficulty in making a decision as there were many excellent essays submitted. Miss Ella's essay was "The Stars and Stripes" and her many friends are congratulating her on her success in this splendid contest.

Anthony Rua is the high honor member of the class having received an average of 96 per cent in all regents subjects. Virginia Salvino is entitled to honorable mention, having earned an average of 95 per cent in all regents subjects.

Gifts of books were presented to all pupils in the lower grades for highest average and many pupils received gifts for perfect attendance during the year. Several pupils have been neither absent nor tardy since they entered school.

HIGHLAND PLAYHOUSE ANNOUNCES PLANS

The Highland Playhouse at Lake Candahee Lodge, on the Raymond Riordan estate announces the opening of the summer season of try-out plays. There will be only one performance of the first play, "Twice Sky", open to the public Tuesday, July 3.

NEW DRUG ASSISTS WAR ON MALARIA

Totaquina Is Developed by World League Experts.

Discovered by league experts wishing to lower prices of powerful quinine rings, limiting quinine supplies far below world requirements, totaquina is becoming popular.

Hospitals and dispensaries in Algeria, Morocco, Malaya, China, Italy, France, Rumania, and Spain are using totaquina instead of quinine, according to the league health section's new survey.

The chronic shortage of quinine, the world production of which is 572 tons less than required annually, is considered in the survey as one of the main difficulties of ridding mankind of widespread malaria.

While the world does not produce more than 600 tons of quinine annually, at least 1,172 tons are required each year by the 68 malarious countries covered by the league's investigations.

To find a cheap substitute for quinine, league experts experimented until they discovered totaquina, which is a total alcaloid mixture from different alcaloids of cinchona. It has been approved by the league's malaria commission representing all the various schools of malariology.

The world's governments should pool their knowledge of malaria even more than previously, the survey states. Some strains of malaria are virulent in one country and mild in another, thus making it essential to study malaria on international lines, it is added.

The league, which has studied in relation to malaria, specifies requirement and conditions whereby a house may be a defense from an infection and not an exposure to malaria.

Growing Sunspots Seen Fatal to Grasshoppers

Winnipeg.—Wholesale destruction of insects and spectacular atmospheric disturbances during the next few years are predicted by amateur astronomers here. They base their prediction on the behavior of sun spots.

Growing in size and intensity, the spots are being studied carefully by the astronomers. They are approaching what is known as a maximum sunspot period, and as they grow larger they will begin to bring troubles and blessings in their wake, the astronomers claim.

The maximum period will be in 1938 or 1939, according to A. B. Meggett, of Deer lodge, one of the astronomers participating in the study. During the years leading up to that period, he says, the world may expect, among other things, a great increase in rainstorms and disruption of radio reception and telegraphic communication, and wholesale destruction of insects, including grasshoppers.

The sun-spot period comes every eleven years, Merget explains, and records kept since 1730 show that it has great influence on conditions on the earth. There are marked changes in the amount of sunlight, magnetic conditions, temperature, rainfall and atmospheric transparency, affecting all forms of life.

Tomb Erected by Villa for Himself Still Empty

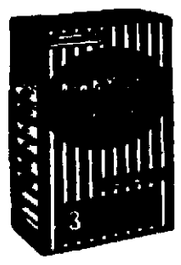

Chihuahua, Chihuahua, Mexico.—The ornate tomb which the late Francisco (Pancho) Villa ordered for himself in the old cemetery, Pantean de la Regla, remains empty.

At the height of his career as Mexico's "strong man," Villa ordered the chapel built and expressed the wish to be buried there.

Instead, his body lies in Parral, Chihuahua, far from the spot he chose. Besides his "tomb," Villa built ten more for his most trusted aids, who were Francisco Borunda, one of his most trusted men; Jose E. Rodriguez, shot by a firing squad in 1916; Donato Guerra, Abraham Gonzalez, Martiniano Serin, who was shot to death in 1915 because he refused to tell federals where his chief was hiding; Andres Vargas, killed at Celaya; Asuncion Giron, fatally wounded at the battle of Zacatecas in 1924; and Ricardo Zea, killed in the same battle.

GREAT DAYS AHEAD!

Are You Getting Ready for Them?

In homes everywhere plans are being made to enjoy the freedom and recreation of the coming summer days.

May we suggest that in making your plans you consider the telephone? You'll find it a ready helper in getting things started. And—while you're away—such a help in keeping close to those at home—setting your mind at ease—getting the most out of your vacation.

There's nothing quite so quick and completely satisfactory as the telephone to get things done. Whatever the occasion, ask yourself "Can the telephone help me?" It's the easy answer to many a hard problem.

See how little it costs to telephone.

"Tucky and Jack" Get Many Newport Fetes

Newport, R. I., June 28 (AP)—The young people who have spent their summers at Newport since they were "so high" are fixing John Jacob Astor, 3rd, and his bride-to-be with a "farewell social round".

Luncheons and teas for "Tucky and Jack" threaten to crowd out even the wedding rehearsal, which, according to Ellen Tuck French, "simply has to take place".

Miss French, who will become Mrs. Astor Saturday, will go through her wedding rehearsal tomorrow. She and Astor, led by two bridal attendants and the rector, will comprise the rehearsal party.

No lookers on, "and there are to be no gate crashers" at the wedding in Old Trinity Church. The church is so small that even part of New-port society has to be omitted from the invitation list.

Astor, feeling fit again after a slight cold, attended a luncheon yesterday with Miss French and 25 of their friends.

Young Astor and his fiancee's relatives wish the wedding to take place "without more fanfare". The church decoration, it is said, will be quite simple.

Five Persons Burned

Hanford, Calif., June 28 (AP)—Five persons burned to death when flames destroyed A. Kolf's ranch house on the edge of Hanford today. Firemen said there was possibly a sixth victim. Corner O. D. Strong and Fire Chief W. D. Carkler suggested there may have been foul play.

Sentences Upheld

Montgomery, Ala., June 28 (AP)—The state supreme court today upheld the death sentences of Clarence Norris and Heyward Patterson, negro dependants in the Scottsboro case and set their date of execution for Friday, August 31.

"Ride" Promised for Johnson in Tennessee

Union Executive Said That Harriman Molesters Made Threat Against NRA's General—Guests of A. F. of L. Asks Martial Law.

Harriman, Tenn., June 28 (AP)—This labor-wracked town, whence Fred G. Held was abducted with a warning that he would be killed if he returned, has the union executive's promise to come back.

Held, vice president of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, was taken from a train in Harriman yesterday, driven into the country and released. Making his way to Chattanooga, he telephoned Emil Rieve of Philadelphia, president of the federation:

"I shall return to Harriman as soon as possible, not because I want to dare somebody, but merely to demonstrate that organizers of the American Federation of Labor will not be terrorized by lynch law methods.

"Three men carrying guns rushed to the car and forced me on the platform at the point of their revolvers," Held said. "There a mob of about two dozen people in six cars was assembled. After being beaten promiscuously and viciously about the shoulders with gun barrels, I was hustled into an auto and driven off through a heavy rain out into the country.

"'You are being taken for a ride,' I was told.

"'We will take General Johnson for a ride too if he dares show his face in Harriman,' said the gang leader. Threats were made that our local strike leaders and our local attorney, Mr. W. Hannah, would be driven out of the town or killed."

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Rieve telegraphed Governor Hill McAllister, demanding the apprehension of "those guilty of kidnaping" and calling for martial law.

WHITE EAGLE BAND WILL REHEARSE FRIDAY, 7:45

There will be a rehearsal Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock of the White Eagle Band, at White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue.

To Repeat Performance

The stage presentation given by the Emilia Riccobono Weyhe dancing school in the early part of June, will be repeated at the Broadway Theatre Friday, July 6, with many added features, assuring a delightful evening for even those who had the pleasure of seeing this program at its first presentation.

Card Party, Dance

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Downtown Republican Club will hold its card party and dance in Manner-chor Hall, East Strand, Friday night, June 29, starting at 8 o'clock. Card games will be played first and dancing will follow. Music will be by the Catskill Mountaineers. Refreshments will be served. The patronage of the public is solicited.

Newburgh Greets State C.E. Convention

The 43rd annual convention of the New York State Christian Endeavor opens this evening at 7 in the Newburgh Free Academy. The hundreds of delegates expected to attend the gathering began to register this morning. More than 400 advance requests for rooms have been received by the Newburgh hotels and homes. Nearly 1,000 official delegates, with hundreds of other visitors, are expected.

The first delegates and officials began to arrive late Wednesday afternoon, being greeted promptly by the Rev. Seth C. Craig, local chairman, and his aides.

The convention will run for four days, concluding Sunday evening, when the Rev. Daniel A. Poling, world Christian Endeavor Union president, will be heard. A feature of the gathering will be the parade Saturday afternoon, on the program as a "Christian Youth Demonstration."

Two Brothers Leave For Poland Via Air

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 28 (AP).—The Adamowicz brothers, Benjamin and Joseph, silent partners in business and in flying, took off at 5:30 (Eastern Standard Time) today on a flight to Warsaw, Poland, their ancestral home.

Promised fine flying weather for the next 48 hours, they headed for Harbor Grace, Newfoundland; there to re-fuel and turn out across the Atlantic to their native land.

They were accompanied in their red, white and blue monoplane "Warsaw" by Holger Hoiriis, who flew to Copenhagen in 1931 in the same plane—then "Miss Liberty." Hoiriis was to leave the brothers at Harbor Grace.

Grand Union Is Building New Store

L. H. Schoonmaker, contractor, who is erecting the new building on Wall street adjoining McCabe's Restaurant which will be occupied by the Grand Union Grocery stores on completion, has completed the walls and the building is now enclosed. It will be ready for occupancy next month. The new building is on one story construction and is being built according to the specifications and requirements of the Grand Union company.

Business Council Meets.

Washington, June 28 (AP).—The business planning and advisory council met today to debate the role of the merchant and manufacturer under the new deal. Plans for a more influential voice in government were ready for submission by a substantial portion of the group. Other executives argued that business has more influence in a non-governmental body and therefore the council should be abolished. It was created by the department of commerce so business men could advise the government in a quasi-official capacity.

Making Addition.

M. Brossman, Wall street furrier and tailor, is erecting a large addition to his place of business. Many improvements will be made including a new heating system and the construction of new fur storage vaults. Augustus Schrowang is the architect.

Garage Man Faces $74,000 NRA Fines

Philadelphia, June 28 (AP)—Harry Sley's defiance of the National Recovery Act may cost him $74,000 in fines.

The Pennsylvania-New Jersey garage line operator never signed the NRA garage code, but offered no defense to charges of violating it, so a jury of nine men and three women convicted him in Federal court.

The jury's verdict, returned yesterday after two hours and twenty minutes deliberation, was based on the issue, as outlined by Judge George A. Welsh, "whether the Congress was to sit supinely by and watch the country drift into industrial crisis, or where they should act with the powers vested in them in the greatest crisis since the birth of the nation."

The conviction covered seventy-four specific violations of the NRA garage code. Both Sley, as owner, and the Sley System Garages, Inc., were defendants. Each count carries a maximum fine of $500, making Sley and the firm liable to a total of $74,000.

Sley was accused of failure to pay minimum wages, observe maximum hours, and post notices of his employes rights as required by the garage code.

Offering no defense, Marshall Coyne, Sley's counsel, contended the prosecution had not made out a case on the face of the evidence. He contended that his client could not be punished for violation of a code he did not sign.

Coyne indicated he will file an appeal with the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

British to Ask Greater Naval and Air Forces

London, June 28 (AP)—Great Britain, a leader in world disarmament moves, is enlarging its air force as well as preparing to ask the 1935 naval conference for a bigger navy.

BROOKLYN EAGLE EDITOR RESIGNS HIS POST TODAY

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 28 (AP)—Harris McCabe Crist retired today as managing editor and vice president of the Daily Eagle. He had been connected with the newspaper in various capacities for 41 years.

He started as a copy boy in the Daily Eagle's Washington, D. C., bureau, subsequently becoming Washington correspondent. In 1911, he came to Brooklyn as assistant managing editor. He was treasurer of the paper from 1929 to 1932.

Crist said he would devote his time to travel and writing.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 28, 1934.

RUSSIA BUYS ELSEWHERE.

When Uncle Sam extended the glad hand to Russia, and ambassadors were exchanged amid the plaudits of both countries, it was assumed by both that trade would be resumed and Russian orders would pour in to help American industry and agriculture. The orders are not coming. Russia is buying elsewhere. The reason, it appears, is the same old reason that killed our Russian trade before—American refusal to deal with the Soviet government until the latter settles the American loans made to the Kerensky government which preceded the Bolshevik revolution.

It is not evident that Congress intended this. The Export-Import Bank set up a few months ago was expected to disregard the Kerensky claims and go ahead providing credit for Russian purchases. But the directors of that trade bank take the position that the recent Johnson bill, forbidding credit to defaulting debtors, applies to Russia, though apparently it was not so intended.

It is an unfortunate and absurd situation. American business needs Russian orders. Russia, as has been shown repeatedly, is now the "best pay" among foreign nations. The present Soviet regime has met faithfully all financial obligations incurred by it. As for the Kerensky claims, though we may yet get something out of them, they represent loans made to enemies of the present regime when it was struggling for supremacy, and when our government itself was helping Kerensky. It is time to face realities in this matter.

MOST STAY MARRIED.

A St. Louis preacher invited the public to a "wedding anniversary service". When the day came, his congregation contained two couples who had been married 50 years, one who had been married 56 years, and many others who were too young to have achieved that distinction but appeared to be happily and permanently married. The minister spoke especially to the young people in his audience, using the married folks as illustration and proof that marriages need not, and most of them do not, end in divorce.

Perhaps there should be more of this sort of thing for the benefit of young people thinking of marriage. There is publicity for the wrecked marriages, the increasing divorces and the ease with which they may be obtained. The successful marriage deserves to be noted more often and to be publicly honored for the fine and beautiful achievement it is.

QUEER PUBLIC OFFICIAL.

Pity County Clerk John S. Thorp of Mineola, Long Island. He wants to reduce his salary and the county board of supervisors won't let him. They say it's against law and precedent. Thorp thinks $9,000 instead of $12,000 he is getting would be enough, and is doubtless right.

There is still hope in spite of oppressive laws. The chairman of the board observes that "if Mr. Thorp wants to make any contribution to the county or any organization, that's entirely up to him." So the clerk may content himself with writing a check for $3,000 to the party organization. Or to the county itself, if he prefers, and if the law really permits such an unheard-of proceeding. It does seem strange, though, that a man like that should be in politics. Not that public office-holders are grasping, of course. But they usually have a lively sense of their own value to the community.

NEW READERS.

For several years public libraries have been reporting more readers than ever before. Books were kept in swift circulation and reading rooms were crowded with men and women who came in to browse through magazines and newspapers. A good part of this activity was attributed to unemployment. Men and women were using some of their enforced leisure in reading. They read for pleasure and entertainment, and they read books they believed would help them get new jobs or make them better at their old ones. They went in strongly for books which might help them understand the economic cause of depression.

Recently an opposite trend has been observed. The St. Louis Public Library reports that it lent 40,000 fewer books during the past May than during May, 1933. Some of last year's readers have gone to work. While they haven't stopped reading, they are not reading so much. If this change is general, it will give librarians a chance to catch their breath again after several strenuous years. There is not going to be any great slump in reading, however. In fact, time will probably prove that libraries have gained many new readers who knew little about such facilities before the depression.

OPERATIONS FOR GOITRE.

The number of individuals with goitre or enlarged thyroid gland is very large, particularly in the lake regions; the nearer the sea and where sea fish are eaten, the number of cases is much less.

It is not the "size" of the goitre that is important, but the degree of distress produced by the symptoms. Thus a goitre that cannot be detected may be causing very rapid heart, indigestion, nervousness, trembling and sleeplessness, whereas a large prominent goitre may give no distress whatever.

When any of the above symptoms are present, instead of "wondering" about it, a metabolism test should be taken which your physician can arrange for you if he has not the metabolism outfit in his office.

If it be found that your metabolism rate—the rate at which your body processes are working—is considerably above normal, 15 to 50 or more per cent, then treatment must be taken to "slow up" or lower this rate.

By the use of iodine and rest many of the cases whose metabolism rate runs from 10 to 25 above the normal are able to live to a good age.

However when rest and iodine do not relieve the symptoms or reduce the metabolism rate, then, while the X-ray or radium may help in some cases, surgery is the most effective method of obtaining good results.

Some years ago it was often necessary to go many miles to large hospitals to have this operation performed, but nowadays surgeons everywhere are doing this operation—removing part of the thyroid gland—with a very small death rate. Dr. W. H. C. Romanis, St. Thomas' Hospital, London, says that in a series of 900 cases of Grave's disease (the severe form of goitre) the death rate was just 2½ per cent; that is 5 in each 200 cases.

As a rule, after 3 or 4 months patients who have had a sufficient amount of the thyroid gland tissue removed feel well, eat well, sleep well and can do their day's work, though it is not wise for them to recommence their normal life quite as soon as this.

It is gratifying to know that this operation, which at one time was considered very dangerous, is now so skillfully performed that it is certainly worth the small chance to get rid of the distressing symptoms and be able to live out the normal span of life.

THE TEMPTER

"WHERE you going, Tommy?"

"To the store. For mother."

"Want me to go along?"

"Sure. If you want to."

"What you going for? How much money you got?"

"For a loaf of bread. I got a dime."

"What size loaf?"

"Eight cents."

"Tell you what. Get a seven cent. Then we can spend the three cents over."

"I gotta take back the change. Mother said to bring back the two cents."

"She won't know. You say it costs ten cents."

"What for?"

"So we can buy something with the change."

"What?"

"Three penny bars."

"I'll ask my mother."

"She won't let you."

"Then I can't."

"Tommy? Tomm-ee-ee. What are you standing there for?"

"O, mo-ther—can I spend the change for penny ba-a-a-rs?"

"Come back here, Tommy. Hurry. Now tell me what you want to do."

"Nickie says to get a seven cent loaf and spend the three cents for penny—"

"No ma'am, don't you believe him. I never did."

"You go along home, Nickie. Tommy, you did right to ask me first. You can spend one penny for a bar. But an eight cent loaf. Bring me the penny. Nickie gets none."

"All right, mother. Could I give him half?"

"No. Nickie goes home. He wanted to cheat, and to get you to cheat so he is out. No bars for him. Hurry. I'll wait until you get back."

Tommy was under strong temptation. Nickie was his friend and chocolate bars are good. It takes a good many years of experience to deny a friend and go without the chocolate that comes by cheating. We have to understand the emotional background of this situation and support the child who is struggling against it. Children are closer to each other than they are to us, even when mothers are concerned. The child's heart is with his friend and the pull is powerful, the decision painful.

Teach the little ones to be honest and honorable, but guard them against too severe a strain on their ideals. One never knows where the tempter is coming from, or who will fulfil his part next time. The friends are likely to take turns at the role and our only hope lies in teaching, watching and guiding. The stronger the background we can build against error the stronger the child will be. But it takes time and children are weak, especially in the hands of their friends.

Consider this and be kindly as you stand on guard.

N-E-W-S BEHIND THE N-E-W-S

By PAUL MALLON
Copyright, 1934, by Paul Mallon
Bingers

Washington, June 27—A business man walked into the NRA. "I manufacture diapers," he said. "What code do I come under?"

They sent him to the cotton textile division. The people in that office were sure that diapers did not come under their jurisdiction. They referred him to the light sewing division.

The light sewing administrator looked into the matter and held that diapers constituted wearing apparel. He shunted the manufacturer off to the apparel office. There the lawyers went into a huddle and disagreed violently. After much argument they were unable to pin the diaper problem down. It was referred to the official NRA policy board for determination. The board now has the matter under advisement.

Dresses

If that story is not enough to convince of the inner difficulties of NRA, consider what happened at a recent hearing by the dress code authority.

The head of the authority was trying to prove that cotton wash dresses belong under the dress code instead of the cotton garment code. He produced two young women, one clad in a cotton dress made under the cotton code, and another wearing a house dress made under the dress code. He explained the differences of the two types.

Then he brought on a flock of young ladies and asked the audience to judge which ones wore house dresses and which wore cotton wash dresses. As the girls walked across the platform, the audience shouted its guesses.

The guesses were about half and half. The code authority turned to the audience and said:

"Gentlemen, you have proved my point eloquently. None of these dresses was a wash dress. All were house dresses."

He did not know it but he also proved that the NRA is reducing itself very near to absurdities in trying to make different specific detailed regulations for every manufacturer of diapers, dresses or doughnuts.

Romance

Don't look surprised if that promised wedding of a most promising Republican widow and a former Republican party official takes place suddenly.

The inner lorgnette circle can detect the first faint prospective tinkle of the bells. That is because the gentleman in the case recently purchased an estate in nearby Maryland. He is furnishing it with paintings and works of art which cannot be intended for his own enjoyment alone.

It is unlikely that the news about the wedding will come out much if it is over.

Nazis

President Roosevelt seems to follow the old poker rules in most of his international dealings: "Play a strong hand weakly and a weak hand strongly."

He had a very weak hand when he made that strong threat of trade retaliation against Germany recently. You can be sure there will be no trade retaliation.

The reason is that we have a favorable balance of trade with Germany. Retaliation would hurt us. Last year we sold the Nazis $42,000,000 more of goods than they sold us. Normally we sell her from two hundred to three hundred millions more.

We could refuse to sell them goods and it might help to drive Germany in the ditch, but it would cost us upwards of sixty millions a year to do it.

The Germans know that. So do Mr. Roosevelt's economic advisers. They tossed their arms in the air when they heard that the White House had hinted trade retaliation because of the German suspension of international payments.

Soft Soap.

There are some deep-dyed skeptics who will contend that the extraordinarily cordial attention given the visiting President of Colombia had certain material aspects.

Mr. Roosevelt did go to unusual lengths to be friendly with Colombia and its President. State Secretary Hull went to the station in person to meet the visitor. There were pictures and statements carrying extra cordiality and friendship. Also, Mr. Roosevelt intends to return the visit in person on his Hawaiian cruise. It is the only such visit he will make.

You will recall that we made our first reciprocal trade treaty with Colombia and that the treaty now is pending in the Colombian Senate. Those who know their Colombian politics say that the Colombian senators are somewhat like ours—chronically uncertain. They might hold up their treaty to see what kind of a trade bargain their neighbors get with us.

Bleagle.

A group of junior executives in the NRA have pooled their resources and leased a large estate in Virginia for the summer. It has a swimming pool, tennis courts and other luxuries. As all work under the blue eagle, the placed is called "Bleagle-on-the-Potomac." . . . Dr. Wirt will not be invited there.

Holy Name Dance.

St. Mary's Holy Name Society will hold a dance at St. Mary's School Hall on Thursday evening, July 12. Modern and old fashioned dances will be played.

A Thorough Bird

The brown creeper is one of the most industrious and most painstaking birds known when it comes to its feeding habits. This bird, slightly smaller than an English sparrow, feeds usually on larvae found in the bark of trees. When feeding, it starts at the bottom of a tree and spirals its way upward, usually making an extremely good job of clearing all the larvae found on the bark.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, June 28—Superintendent Albert Wright had charge of the Sunday school opening exercises Sunday in the Methodist Church after the regular program. A visitor, John Wiseman, gave a very interesting talk and told of the great poverty and need among the people of the Kentucky mountains and of the eagerness of the children for an education. At the morning church service, the pastor, the Rev. Robert L. Masterstock, gave an address to the children. The pastor's sermon subject was "Hope Thou in The Lord." The choir sang an anthem with George Newton as soloist. Communion service will be observed at the morning service Sunday, July 1. The pastor is attended the summer school of ministerial training at Drew Seminary, Carmel, this week.

A delegation of young people will leave on Saturday, June 30, to attend the Epworth League Institute to be held at Oakwood School, Poughkeepsie, for 10 days.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Oakley of Garnersville visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oakley, on Central avenue on Tuesday.

Mrs. Howard Sherwood visited Poughkeepsie on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wiseman and family have been entertaining Mr. Wiseman's brother, John Wiseman, and sister Miss Minnie Wiseman.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Freer and daughter, Miss Edna Freer of Poughkeepsie spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gulnac and family.

Miss Jane McHugh is spending a few days in Marlborough.

Miss Alive Finley entertained the afternoon club last Wednesday.

Miss Kathryn Hayes of Staatsburgh, a graduate of New Paltz Normal, recently received the degree of B. E. from Fordham University.

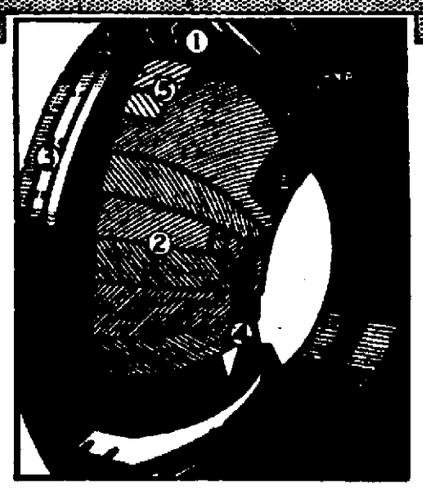

Mrs. Carrie DuBois entertained Mr. and Mrs. David T. Van Wagenen of Ohioville Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Boettiger entertained the pinochle club at their home Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur DeGroff of Hyde Park, attended the class day exercises at the high school Monday night.

Hudson Plans to Welcome Destroyer

The U. S. Destroyer Talbot, which has been berthed in the Rondout creek since last Saturday, will leave here early Friday morning and sail to Hudson where she is expected to arrive about 8 o'clock that morning.

The Hudson Star of Wednesday stated that Mayor Frank W. Wise of Hudson was in Kingston that day completing plans for the reception Friday, which will be a gala and noteworthy day in Hudson. The destroyer will be open for inspection from 1 to 5 o'clock Friday afternoon to the residents of Hudson and vicinity. The Talbot will remain in Hudson overnight, leaving Saturday morning at 8 o'clock for Albany where she will remain until after the Fourth of July.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep . . . Vigor . . . Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with smarty smarting, burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, dizziness, feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS . . . a doctor's prescription . . . which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS . . . the old reliable relief that contains no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, June 28—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets)—The following quotations represent prices on sales by commission merchants and other original receivers on the New York city downtown wholesale district up to 8 a. m.

Upstate green peas wholesaled at $1.50 per bushel basket. Washington telephone peas in bushel hampers commanded $1.87½-$2.00.

Hudson valley sweet cherries of attractive quality and large size sold in 4 quart climax baskets from 40c-75c; sour red cherries in similar size containers brought 30c-35c, occasionally 40c.

Strawberry prices especially on fancy large, advanced in a stronger market. Oswego county Chesapeake berries realized 20c-25c per quart basket. Other varieties brought 15c-20c. Hudson valley fruit ranged from 10c-20c.

The market for celery ruled dull and weaker and at a late hour some consignments remained unsold. Orange county and northern New Jersey, stock in the rough, packed in two-thirds crates jobbed out from $3.00-$4.00 for the best and from $2.00-$2.75 for poorer.

Enlisting For CCC Boiceville Camp

The local TERA is now enlisting twenty youths ranging in age from 18 to 25 years for the CCC camp at Boiceville. All enlistments must be completed by Saturday and the men will be taken to the camp next Tuesday. Boys who have been away to former CCC camps are not eligible for enlistment as they were given an opportunity to re-enlist at the camp where they were stationed before they returned home. Those eligible for enlistment are youths from families who are dependent or partially dependent on the city for aid.

53rd Commencement Of Grammar Schools

their prize, so Mr. Brown said he took particular pleasure in presenting the June medal to Mary Ryan of St. Joseph's Parochial School.

In presenting the largest grammar school class to President Beeres of the Board of Education to receive their diplomas, Superintendent Vanlagen, himself congratulated each and all of the graduates. He showed them how they and other boys and girls doing their best to receive the right kind of education in our schools are an exceedingly valuable investment for the people of Kingston who support the schools. He knew they would try to be clean-living, good citizens of service to others.

President Beeres also congratulated the graduates heartily and remarked on th eexceedingly creditable program which they had just given. With best wishes he then presented the diplomas to the speakers from each school.

The exercises closed with the playing of a march by the trumpeters from the schools.

COMING ACTIVITIES AT E. KINGSTON CHURCH

East Kingston, June 28—On Thursday night the Wesley Club soft ball team will play the Port Ewen Men's Club on the Hercules diamond in Port Ewen. The game is called about 6:30.

Friday night the officials of the Methodist Church will hold a quarterly meeting in the church. Reports of the past three months work will be read and a summary of all contributions given, as well as money paid out for the various objects. Plans will be made to overcome any deficit that might have occurred.

Sunday, July 1, the Rev. Emmett Shew will have charge of the morning service, 11 o'clock. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered by the visiting pastor.

Friday, July 13, the Ladies' Aid Society will entertain the ladies of Poughkeepsie, who are planning to give a play entitled, "Her Son's Sweetheart," that night for the benefit of both churches.

QUESTION BOX By ED WYNN . . . The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am a boy sixteen years old and I have an ambition. I want to do something startling. Something that is bound to cause a commotion. What do you suggest?

Truly yours,
I. DEALIST.

Answer—Something that will startle people? Very simple. Go to a ballroom during a dance on a hot summer's night and throw about ten eggs in the electric fans.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

A friend of mine said that he knew a man that was in the hospital having splinters taken out of his tongue. Could that be true? If so, how do you account for splinters in a man's tongue?

Truly yours,
ANG. TIOUS.

Answer—That is probably true. It most likely happened this way: The man was very stingy. He had just paid for a drink and it split on the floor. See what I mean?

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Do you think it is right for men to work on Sunday, thereby breaking the Sabbath?

Truly yours,
E. VANGELIST.

Answer—I do in some cases. For instance, if it's a question which one is "broke," the man or the Sabbath, I say the Sabbath.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

What is meant by "A Man of Promise?"

Yours truly,
SID. KNEE.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am a boy eight years old. We have just started physiology in school. Tomorrow I must tell the teacher all about "The Five Senses." Please tell me what are the five senses?

Yours truly,
I. BALL.

Answer—The five "centses," my child, are nickels."

"I WENT 51% FURTHER ON GULF-LUBE"

Says Mrs. Lee Ketner, Winston-Salem, N. C., Who Made The "Two Trip" Test

Drive a Chrysler? Read Mrs. Ketner's story...

"I made your 'two-trip' test," says Mrs. Lee Ketner, 705 Melrose St., Winston-Salem, N. C., "and to say I was surprised would be putting it mildly."

"Gulf-lube outlasted my regular 25c motor oil by 115 miles—it went 51% further before a quart was consumed!"

Thanks, Mrs. Ketner. You're one of thousands of motorists who have cut their oil costs with Gulf-lube—the oil that was tested by the American Automobile Association in 6 average cars—and out-lasted every oil in every car!

Start saving! Switch to Gulf-lube now. You'll buy less oil between fillings. You'll get better, smoother lubrication. At 25c a quart Gulf-lube is America's biggest motor oil value. At all Gulf stations.

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

The young married woman who has a bassinet instead of an ash tray in her boudoir isn't the kind that keeps the divorce courts so busy.

One man, who is well up in years, attributes his longevity to the fact that his wife has never baked or bought mince pie.

Frances—Thomas certainly makes love beautifully!
Bernice—He ought to. He has had a lot of practice.

Friend—What did you do when your husband disapproved of your bathing suit?
Woman—Oh, I just laughed it off.

The American girl is now called the world's best dancer. And she is also highly proficient in letting her boy friend pay the fiddler.

Jerry—Why were there so few girl athletes in the gay 90's?
Perry—They were all bustle-bound.

The two biggest problems of the day seem to be finding jobs for the unemployed, and keeping those who have jobs from striking.

Son—Well, Dad, I just ran up to say hello.
Dad—Too late, son, your mother ran up to say hello and got all my change.

All The Day.

Keep serene; do cheerfully your part,
No matter what the task be true and strong of heart.
Keep serene; make this a fruitful day.
However hard the task keep smiling
all the way.

Don't expect your boss to pay you a dollar an hour for your working time when you use your leisure hours as though they were not worth five cents a dozen.

Warden—Have you anything to say before we turn on the juice?
Doomed Prisoner—Yeah. I don't like that draft where you slit my pants leg.

An old maid ought to be a model of sweetness and good nature, muses a local man. There's no fool man around the house to use her flower pots for ash trays.

Wife (after a quarrel)—I suppose if I was to die tonight you'd marry some other woman immediately.

Circus Manager—Well, what's wrong now?
India-Rubber Man—Every time the strong man writes a letter he uses me to rub out the mistakes.

A woman never feels concerned for a man that has a nail in his shoe until it begins to tear a hole in his sock.

Gertrude—I don't intend to be married until I'm thirty.
Kathleen—I don't intend to be thirty until I'm married.

A movie star gets married so often she forgets who is coming home to dinner until she sees him open the door.

"The modern girl doesn't expect an ideal man," says a modern writer. But she expects the "I deal" kind of marriage.

NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT AT EPWORTH HALL

Friday evening in Epworth Hall of Clinton Avenue M. E. Church there will be presented a novel entertainment in the form of a radio broadcast. This presentation has been named a "Studio Program" and the public is invited to enjoy the evening as the guests of the finance committee of the church. Admission will be by ticket only. These tickets may be secured free of charge from any member of the committee or member of the official board.

A varied program has been prepared, which should appeal to every listener, as follows:

"The Children's Hour"—presenting Jane McCracken, Dick and Miriam McGrath, Shirley Stewart and Madeline, Muriel and Dorothy Smith.

"The Catskill Mountaineers"—featuring Mike Amarello and his silver guitar.

"The Sunshine Hour"—music by Ralph Gurney and William Hookey; a reading by Mrs. H. D. McGrath; solo by Frank Elmendorf.

"Midget Minstrels"—Doc Shultis, interlocutor; Ellen Foster and Milton Shebel as ends, and Lyla Herrick, accompanist.

The announcers for these programs will be A. H. Stall and V. S. Miller. The stage electrician will be A. C. Hendry. During the evening a collection will be taken for the benefit of Clinton Avenue M. E. Church. The program will start promptly at 8:15.

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, June 28—The Missionary Society will hold its regular monthly meeting today at the home of Mrs. Oscar Church. Mrs. David DuBois of New Paltz will be the visitor. She will speak on Kentucky. The time of the meeting is 3 p. m.

The Rev. Clarence Howard has his vacation in July and will not occupy the pulpit of the Reformed Church again till July 29. The following ministers will preach: The Rev. E. H. Keator, July 1; the Rev. J. Tysse, July 8, the next two Sundays are pending. Oscar Church and W. Brooks have charge of pulpit supply.

The committee in charge of the Boy Scout supper wishes to thank all who helped to make their supper a success. The boys now feel they have enough to give them a week in camp.

Those who joined the Reformed Church Sunday, June 17, were Mrs. Frank Neff, Charles and Frank Neff, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Churchwell, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Van Laer. Last Sunday the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Quick was baptized, Henrietta Louise Quick. She is a great grandchild of Will Hays.

During the absence of the pastor on his vacation the Sunday Bulletin will not be published.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis of Kingston were in town on Saturday afternoon.

The graduation exercises of the High Falls public school were largely attended and very much enjoyed by all present. The graduating class was: Margaret Schoonmaker, Ruth Macy, Gerard Chester, Charles Burhans, Spencer Terwilliger, Kelton Jansen.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davidson of Woodcliff, N. J., spent last week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Casper.

Mrs. J. M. Barnhart, who has been spending a few weeks with her son, Jesse Barnhart, and family of Stone Ridge, returned home last Thursday.

Spencer Bain of New York city visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Church last Sunday.

The community is very proud of Miss Ruth Stokes of The Clove, who passed the town spelling contest held at Stone Ridge, and also the county contest held at Kingston on Monday with the highest per cent. Miss Stokes will now enter the state contest at Syracuse.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Van Laer and family, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Snyder, motored to Albany on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Snyder visited their son, Herbert Snyder, and family.

Mrs. C. F. LeFevre, Jr., of Bloomington spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. J. M. Barnhart.

Miss Alice Krom of Brooklyn and Miss Kathryn Krom of Valley Stream are home on their summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Van Wagenen and son, Claude Van Wagenen, of Kingston, motored out to the High Falls cemetery on Sunday afternoon and called on old friends in this place.

Edward Brooks of Albany motored out last Thursday and visited his mother, Mrs. Mary Brooks. While here they went for a short ride and called on some old friends.

Mrs. Mary Brooks and Mrs. Mary McArdle called at Locust Hurst cottage on Sunday afternoon.

METHODS OF DISPOSING OF NESTS OF ANTS IN LAWNS

Many inquiries are being received by the Department of Agriculture and Markets relatives to methods of disposing of nests of ants which may be found in lawns and golf courses, according to Commissioner Charles H. Baldwin. These unsightly spots, the Department states, are an annoyance, and instructions are sought with regard to eliminating them.

The Department points out that it is useless to re-sow such spots with seed until the ants have been killed. It is about this season of the year, it is stated, that the nests appear. The ants may be destroyed by liberal applications of carbon bisulphide. To apply this chemical, punch holes in the soil about the nests to a depth of 8 to 12 inches, depending on the size of the nests. Into each of these holes there should be poured one tablespoonful of carbon bisulphide, and the top should be covered with moist earth. If there are several holes in a small area of the lawn or golf course, a wet blanket or large piece of burlap may be used to cover the entire plot. Carbon bisulphide is inflammable and when mixed with air is highly explosive. Therefore, all fire should be kept at a distance when this material is being used.

Calcium cyanide, in the dust form, may also be used for destroying nests of ants. This is best applied to holes made in the ground in and around the nests. Several holes should be made two or three inches apart. The calcium cynaide should be applied with a funnel, a teaspoonful to a hole, and the cyanide should be placed to the lowest depth of the hole. If scattered over the surface of the lawn, grass and other plants are likely to be killed. This material and the gas from it are very poisonous and care must be used in handling it.

A simple method which has been recommended for disposing of ants is to mix tartar emetic (poison) one part to ten parts powdered sugar. A little of this bait should be sprinkled where the ants are found at any time when the ground is dry. Repeat this for a day or two to take care of nests which has been missed. This poison is not strong enough to kill the ants immediately. They will carry it away to their nests and feed it to the queen and the young, and thus destroy the entire colony. Paris green mixed in equal proportions with brown sugar will often produce a similar result.

Another method of destroying ant hills in the lawn is to take the sod out to a depth of three or four inches; pour scalding water in the hole, being careful not to let it overflow as the scalding water will burn the lawn. Usually one application is sufficient. The sod may then be replaced.

The treatments suggested will be found most successful during warm sunny weather when ants are most active.

Coal oil, gasoline and kerosene cannot be used in destroying ants on lawns and golf links as they kill the grass. On drives and tennis courts or other places without vegetation a little of any one of these materials poured into the holes will usually put an end to the ant colony.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why external remedies so seldom give quick and permanent relief?

Why cutting does not remove the cause.

Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby, the parts lifeless?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding piles discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause. It stimulates the circulation in the lower bowel—drives out the thick impure blood, and restores the affected parts.

HEM-ROID is so successful in even the most stubborn cases that McBride Drug Stores and all good druggists advise every sufferer to get a bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets today—take them as directed—then if not completely satisfied with results—your money back.—Adv.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly granted in the above entitled action, and entered in Ulster County Clerk's Office, on the 29th day of December, 1933, and an order duly made and entered in this action and filed in the Office of said Clerk on the 24th day of May, 1934, directing a resale, I, Henry Hunter, the undersigned, Referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the front door of the County Court House, in the City of Kingston, County of Ulster, New York, on the 6th day of July, 1934, at 12:00 o'clock noon, Daylight Saving Time, the premises described in said judgment, as follows, viz.: ALL that piece or parcel of land with buildings thereon, situate on the northerly side of East Bridge Street, in the Village of Saugerties, County of Ulster and State of New York, and more particularly bounded and described as follows:

WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of the money secured by a certain mortgage, bearing date the 6th day of April, 1928, made and executed by Irving Krom and Addie Krom, his wife, of the City of Kingston, Ulster County, N. Y., as mortgagors to Elizabeth Schuster and Irene S. Hollstein of the City of Kingston, Ulster County, N. Y., which said mortgage was given as collateral security for the payment of Three Thousand ($3,000) Dollars in one year from the date hereof, together with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent per annum payable semi-annually on the first days of July and January in each year, and was duly recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Book of Mortgages No. 378, at page 319, on the 6th day of April, 1928, at 4:15 P. M., and no suit or proceeding having been begun or instituted at law to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof; and

WHEREAS, the amount claimed to be due on the said mortgage at the first publication of this notice, is the sum of Three thousand two hundred ninety-six dollars ($3,296.00), namely; Three thousand dollars ($3,000) principal and Two hundred ninety-six dollars ($296.00) interest, and that the whole amount remaining unpaid is the sum of Three thousand two hundred ninety-six dollars ($3,296.00).

NOW, THEREFORE, Notice is hereby given according to statute in such case made and provided, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, duly recorded therewith as aforesaid, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises herein described by the subscribers, the mortgagees therein at public auction on the 14th day of July, 1934, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of that day (Daylight Savings Time) at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Kingston, Ulster County, N. Y.

The following is a description of the mortgaged premises, so as aforesaid to be sold, as they are contained in the said mortgage: ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND with the buildings thereon situate in the Town of Ulster, County of Ulster and State of New York, and being lot No. 123 and the westerly ten (10) feet of lot No. 122 on a map or plan of Foxhall Manor, dated July 16, 1921, made by Ernest W. Branch, Civil Engineer, and filed in the office of the Clerk of Ulster County, map No. 820, and more particularly described as follows: Beginning on the southerly side of Harwich street at the westerly corner of lands now or formerly of Charlotte E. Waldo as conveyed to her by Irving Krom and wife by deed dated May 24, 1927, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office May 31, 1927, in Book of Deeds No. 524, at page 202, and from said point or place of beginning running southerly along the line of lands of said Charlotte E. Waldo, one hundred (100) feet; thence westerly parallel with Harwich street forty (40) feet; thence northerly and parallel with the first course one hundred (100) feet to Harwich street and thence easterly along the southerly side of Harwich street forty (40) feet to the point or place of beginning. Said lot being forty (40) feet front and rear and one hundred (100) feet deep. Together with the fee, in so far as the said party of the first part has the right so to convey the same, of all the streets and ways shown on said plan, in common with the owners of the other lots shown on said plan, and subject to the right of all the said owners to make any customary use of said streets and ways. This conveyance is made subject to all unpaid local improvement assessments, if any, from the date hereof.

Restrictions: No shanties or huts shall be built on said lot. Restrictions placed on other lots shown on said plan may be enforced or enjoined by the said parties of the second part and it is understood that the said parties of the first part shall be under no obligation to enforce any such restrictions or to enjoin or restrain any violation thereof.

Being a portion of the same premises as conveyed by Orlando A. Wood and Nellie L. Wood to Irving Krom and Addie Krom, his wife, by deed dated May 12, 1926, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Book of Deeds No. 517, at page 224, on May 12, 1926.

Tree 'Growth Rings' Tell Science Drouth Period Should End Soon

By P. R. COLTON
(Associated Press Science Writer)

Washington (AP)—Better times—and hence better times for the farmer—are foreseen by a forest service scientist, who finds the annual growth rings of trees in the northwest presaging an end of drouth.

The growth of a tree each year adds another ring of new wood on its outer circumference, clearly distinguishable from the growth ring of the year before. Scientists have found that the thickness of each year's ring varies with the amount of heat and moisture available to the tree. In wet years the rings are thick, in dry years thin.

"According to the record of tree rings in ponderosa pine of the Pacific northwest, we are at the bottom of a severe major drouth," says the forest service, "and the upturn to good moisture years should come in three to eight years."

This verdict is based on a study of tree rings by Dr. Walter H. Meyer. They reveal, by their varying thickness cycles of drouth and plentiful rain regularly recurring for centuries.

Drouths Average 22 Years

"Dr. Meyer's record of the tree rings goes back to 1632," the forest service statement says. "In it he found rhythmic cycles of good growth and poor growth, indicating clearly the existence of definite climatic cycles.

"The length of the cycle from peak to peak of drouth varied in the past from 17 to 35 years and averaged about 22 years. The data was obtained from hundreds of trees scattered throughout the forest region of eastern Oregon and Washington.

"The latest period of retarded growth seems to have started about 1917. This period of slow growth also appears to be one of the most pronounced and of the longest duration in the entire record."

Trees Keep 'Records'

This last statement partially bears out the weather bureau's verdict that this year's drouth has been the most severe on record, at least from the standpoints of area affected and deficiency of rainfall. Weather bureau records, however, do not go back more than 100 years except in a few sections of the country, and these older ones were kept by other agencies before the government started recording weather conditions.

The huge sequoias or "big trees" of California, however, have been keeping accurate records of climatic changes, drouths and wet periods since before the birth of Christ.

Wet-Dry Cycles Recorded By Nature

Science has learned something about drouth periods from the big trees of the northwest. In dry seasons the yearly "growth rings" are narrower than in wet seasons, as indicated in the sketch above. Scientists of the forest service conclude from their studies of tree rings that "we are at the bottom of a severe major drouth" which should end in from three to eight years.

HYDRANTS, WHITEWINGS LAUDED BY EDINGER.

Editor Freeman:

The neat appearance of the city hydrants has received deserved commendation from the general public. They are painted a silver shade and attract much attention and can be seen for quite a distance.

Let us hope that the fire hydrants in the city will receive the attention they deserve, particularly the one on Canal street, downtown, as it is a dead-end street and the hydrant should be blown off to eliminate the accumulation of sediment, etc.

The city street force, dressed up in their neat white uniforms, are certainly conspicuous and therefore can be seen by automobile drivers at a great distance, thus obviating the danger of being hit by an auto driver. It also looks more up-to-date, but as one of the men who handle the broom stated, "It certainly is an improvement, but why the dickens don't the city give us two suits so that we can have a change? As it is now our wives are forced to wash our uniforms after we go to bed or else we must wear them all the week. In rainy weather and even on very warm days one day's wear is all that will pass muster and if we do not look neat and clean we get a reprimand from the boss; so we take it and say nothing."

I suggested he write to General Johnson or perhaps the chairman of the brain trust.

Success May Depend on Your Food!

How fast you go ahead in the world, how much money you make, depends very largely on how wise you are about your choice of food.

If you are tired out by 11:30, if you're dull after lunch, if hot weather gets you, it's probably because you just haven't learned to eat the right things.

It's very simple, too. Try eating one meal a day of Shredded Wheat, milk, and fruit. This happy combination will make almost any one more alert, full of pep, and efficient. It gives your body, in concentrated, easily digested and delicious form, what it needs for nourishment, tissue building, resistance to disease, and it contains bran to keep you regular.

Just try one meal a day of Shredded Wheat. It proves what it will do for you in a very short time!

TWENTY YEARS AFTER the WORLD WAR

Park streets, dark and silent as enemy planes roared menacingly overhead, are serene again. Parisians whose heads ached from the ominous rumble of far-away "Big Berthas" are no longer terrified...but they have not forgotten. "Security" is their watchword and many of France's current policies are molded with that goal in mind.

This is the fourth in a series of six articles picturing conditions two decades after the shot that started the World war was fired, June 28, 1914.

France, Recalling, Cries "Give Us Security!"

Paris, (AP)—War scars of Paris have healed, the "devastated regions" of northern France have been rebuilt, but memories remain of the war which struck 20 years ago.

The great conflict left vivid recollections of air raids over Paris and, above all, of the daily bombardment by "Big Berthas".

In the country, decimated families till the ancestral patches which were withered by the heat of battle. In the industrial regions, elderly workers recall the days when they labored underground in mines which have been idle since the enemy flooded them.

"Security"

France, as the battleground of the greatest conflict in history, has poignant memories. And those memories influence her today.

"Security" is the watchword of French policy at home and abroad. It is the key to her attitude toward disarmament, the gold standard and world trade.

It is the reason for her big expenditures for fortifications along the frontiers. Deputies wrangle over other budget items, but they vote billions for "security" and grimly decree "no war debt payments."

Twenty years ago French resorts were crowded and Paris hotels overflowed with tourists. Shops of the luxury trade flourished as jewels, gloves, gowns and lingerie passed over counters to visiting Americans, English and Germans.

Whispers Of Alarm.

The assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand on June 28, 1914, was scarcely heeded. Then the clouds gathered. "C'est la guerre" was whispered, questionably at first. Austria, Serbia, Russia, Germany mobilized. Still the phrase was only a whisper.

France withdrew her frontier guards eight miles from the border and told them not to fire unless they were attacked. Gray-clad German hosts started through Luxembourg and crossed the Belgian border. Finally, days after other countries had sprung to arms, France called her sons to the colors.

"C'est la guerre" became a shout as columns clad in horizon blue headed eastward even as tourists by the thousands jammed the boat trains for Atlantic and channel ports.

C'est La Guerre.

Within a month German guns were thundering at the gates of Paris, the Paris garrison was rushing by taxicabs to stem the tide on the Marne. Scores of thousands of refugees, chiefly old men, women and children, trudged westward, lugging household salvage from the villages.

"C'est la guerre," they said despairingly.

The struggle lengthened. Living conditions became difficult. Planes and the long range gun rained death from the skies.

"C'est la guerre," said the people, resignedly.

Weary years later kaiserdom collapsed. The tri-color crossed the Rhine. Peace conditions pinched the new Germany, prices soared under inflation and "c'est la guerre" was the explanation.

"Give us security."

Next—Germany.

The Word "Yegg"

The word "yegg," used originally by the Gypsies in their Romani chiv, was derived from Hindustani, in which language yagh designates "a plunderer, pillager, thief," and yaghma, "booty, plunder, spoil, etc." Its ultimate source is the Sanskrit yagan, "singly, or one by one," from ya (verb), "to move from place to place," and ya (noun), "one who moves or goes from place to place."—Literary Digest.

Largest Flower in World

What is said to be the largest flower in the world is a parasite on the roots of a species of wild vine that grows on the island of Sumatra. Each petal of this flower is a foot long and one-fourth of an inch thick in the thinnest part. The diameter of the flower is about a yard and a single specimen weighs about 15 pounds.

Licenses Revoked And Suspended

Albany, N. Y., June 27—Four hundred and seventy-seven certificates of automobile registration and licenses to drive were revoked or suspended by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles during the three weeks ended June 16. Of these cases 249 will require proof of financial responsibility before applications for new licenses will be considered. There were 45 revocations and 74 suspensions in other parts of the state.

In the Albany district there were 12 revocations and 19 suspensions. Eleven of the suspensions were for failure to file omnibus bonds, the names of those involved not being published.

There was one revocation in Kingston and two in the vicinity. They were as follows:

The list of suspensions did not include any names from Kingston or surrounding communities.

YOUR CAR can't Run WITHOUT AIR!

Liquid Gasoline won't burn..why Engines need OXYGEN to Breathe!

S-T-R-O-K-E—AND BREATHE! This skilled swimmer knows that there's no power in her stroke unless her breathing is right. So she "comes up for air" on every second stroke.

FIRE AND RECHARGE! Fire—and recharge! Your engine has a "heart," too. Each cylinder draws in a fresh supply of "gas" with every alternate down stroke of the pistons.

SUN BRIGHT AND TRAFFIC HEAVY—this engine is running on air that is hot and dry. A few miles further on, it may meet a sudden shower that alters the "gas" mixture.

ONE TEST FOLLOWS ANOTHER in Socony-Vacuum Research Laboratories where engineers are constantly checking Socony Mobilgas, and the way that it mixes with air.

YOUR CAR CAN'T BURN liquid gasoline. It must first turn gasoline into "gas" by mixing it with large quantities of air.

Think what that means. The condition of the air is constantly changing with the weather. It's hot or cold, damp or dry, according to what the weather man says. Naturally, your "gas" mixture changes, too.

That's why Socony Mobilgas has Climatic Control. This makes Socony Mobilgas mix better with air. Sudden weather changes no longer affect the "gas" mixture.

Try Socony Mobilgas—and see what this means in performance. It's sold at all Socony dealers. Look for the Flying Red Horse.

SEE THAT WORD "MOBILGAS"—there on the gas pump? The gasoline you buy here will give you top-notch performance. It's the only gasoline with Climatic Control.

At The Theatres

Kingston: "Nana". With the biggest publicity built up since the coming of Dietrich, Anna Sten, new arrival from Russia, gets off to a noteworthy start in a story adapted from one of the novels of Zola. A Paris streetwalker, she lives through many tragedies and spots of happiness and is finally made a stage star. That is the plot, and the entire show revolves around the little lady, the other actors play to her, the sets are arranged for her best advantage, in fact nothing has been spared to see that she gets over with her American public in her very first film, for considerable money has been tied up in Miss Sten already. She makes the most of it, and proves her capabilities with a wealth of personality, beauty and a rich talkie voice. Richard Bennett, Phillips Holmes, Mae Clarke and Lionel Atwill are in the cast.

Orpheum: "Song of Songs" and "Madame Spy." Marlene Dietrich along with Brian Ahearn is to be seen in the first feature playing the role of a woman too beautiful to find happiness. Men are attracted to her the moment they see her, and she becomes a model in the studio of a young artist. He moulds her picture in clay, and loses her through misunderstanding. It takes some time and a lot of trouble, but the two finally find happiness together. Lionel Atwill is also in the cast. "Madame Spy" is an exciting vehicle, with Nils Asther and Fay Wray. A handsome Vienna officer in the secret service marries a Russian spy, never knowing it, and is given an assignment to track her down.

Broadway: "He Was Her Man." Playing a sympathetic role for a change, James Cagney plays the part of a small time wise guy with big ideas. He doesn't think too much of the opposite sex, but he gets muddled up in love just the same, and falls into all kinds of trouble before things are cleared up. It is the story of two average people, who learn that love can overcome most anything. Joan Blondell is excellent as the girl in the story and Victor Jory does well in a featured part.

Tomorrow

Kingston: Same.

Orpheum: "Broken Dreams" and "Sagebrush Trail." How a little child can lead people into righteousness is the theme of the first feature, with little Buster Phelps in the leading role. Randolph Scott and Martha Sleeper are also in the cast. "Sagebrush Trail" is a John Wayne western drama with plenty of punch and impossible situations.

Broadway: "The Love Birds" and "Success At Any Price." Slim Summerville looks as goofy as ever in the first comedy feature, and Zasu Pitts waves her hands in her same plaintive style, and the show turns out to be pretty laughable screen fare. "Success At Any Price" offers Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Geneviere Tobin, Colleen Moore and Frank Morgan in a success story picture that seems to get lost in the telling. Anyway, Fairbanks is a young advertising man with a desire to be wealthy and famous, and the plot wanders after that. A new serial, entitled, "Burn 'Em Up Barnes" is also an added feature. In the best tradition of the serials of years and years ago, this one hums along at a merry clip, with something doing all the time, and each scene leaves the heroine and hero in desperate circumstances. Lola Lane and Jack Mulhall head the cast.

Getting Ready

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

The little ducks quacked happily when they heard that they were going to the Ducklings' camp, and now all the parents were busy making leafy blankets and doing up the grain and seeds to pay for the camp season.

"Now," said Mrs. Quacko to her children when they returned to Puddle Muddle, "I'm going up to see Willy Nilly and tell him all about it.

"Then he'll come down to the pond and tell me if I've forgotten anything. Willy Nilly has such a good memory and at present my duck head is in a whirl.

Willy Nilly was working hard when Mrs. Quacko went up to speak to him. The rain had stopped, but it had refreshed the ground so much that everything looked ready to grow again. To be sure there were puddles everywhere, but no one in Puddle Muddle objected to them. The ponds and lakes were almost overflowing—and that gave pleasure to all except Top Notch, the rooster, and Christopher Crow.

"We're going to send our ducklings to camp this summer," Mrs. Quacko told Willy Nilly, "and they must be off tomorrow. You have such a fine way of remembering everything that I want you to come and look us over to make sure I haven't forgotten anything."

Willy Nilly hated to leave his work, but then he couldn't resist seeing the little ducks start off for camp.

"I haven't the backbone of an aspen leaf when the wind is blowing. I'm going to do Mrs. Quacko's thinking for her while forgetting about my chores," he thought.

On The Radio Day By Day

BY C. E. BUTTERFIELD

Time is Eastern Daylight.

New York, June 28 (AP)—Apparently Kate Smith has decided that she really has gotten the moon over the mountain, for when she resumes broadcasting on WABC-CBS she is to have a new theme tune.

It's to be just a snatch of a song with its general makeup still in the process of formation. Kate, who has been away from general broadcasting for seven months, will be on three times a week, Monday, Thursday and Friday evenings at 8 o'clock, starting July 15.

TRY THESE TONIGHT (THURSDAY).

MR. BROWN TELLS OF NEW ROYAL TIRES

"Carcass strength has always been one of the strong points of tires built by the U. S. Rubber Co., but so much emphasis has been placed lately on treads that perhaps too little has been said about the carcass," Harris Brown, local U. S. tire dealer, declared today in commenting on the 1934 U. S. Royals.

"The long staple cotton we use in our cord is of the highest quality used in tire construction today," said Mr. Brown. "This cotton is processed and fabricated in our own mills, to our own specifications, producing a cord with maximum strength and suitable stretch.

"The 1934 U. S. Royal, with its improved Tempered Rubber tread supported by a definitely superior carcass, is the finest tire we have ever built."

WEST ESOPUS SCHOOL PICNIC HELD FRIDAY

On Friday the West Esopus School brought a very successful year to a close, by holding a picnic at Golden Rule Inn. The pupils, parents and friends thoroughly enjoyed the boating, swimming, contests and games, all associated with this ideal spot. Refreshments were served and furnished in abundance by the teacher, Miss Helen Elgo, of Port Ewen.

The interval during which the earth makes one absolute revolution around the sun is called a sidereal year and consists of 365 days, 6 hours, 9 minutes and 9.6 seconds.

Fashions by Eleanor Gunn

Holding the Bag

Copyright, 1934, by Fairchild

The three handbags illustrated above are recent imports. They are new and interesting versions for summer, adapted for sports, afternoon, and evening wear.

The third model is for evening. It is fashioned of a Dresden print, overlaid with a tracery of white seed beads. The border is of bugles rimmed with seed beads.

Fashions Continue in a Reminiscent Vein

New York—No one enjoys wearing gloves these sultry summer nights; at least, except the woman who has provided herself with some striking novelty such as the one sketched. Novelty gloves do not necessarily repeat the fabric of the gown, but they are inclined to.

Would you believe it, I wonder, that making one's own gloves has become one of the smart tricks of suburbia, and that women are also boasting about making their own shoes? Believe it or not, such is the case. It sounds very intricate, and is as intricate as it sounds. Still, it is being done; is, in fact, developing into something of a fad.

The couturieres of Paris quite naturally have turned their hand to making gloves which are designed to complete a special ensemble, but one could hardly call that an amateur performance. Making one's own gloves, not to mention shoes, is by way of being an achievement.

Note the neckline on the model sketched today. It is refreshingly different, and one which is in league with the present movement to accent the bust. It is another version of the old style camisole, or corset cover decolletage, one which seems to be on the threshold of a revival. Another detail of the same vintage is the coiffure with a bow. It's been too long for any one to admit remembering since women wore ribbon bows in their hair. It's a fashion which is coming back along with bangs and exposed ears.

And are we not accepting corsets, called foundations, it is true, but corsets none the less, and are we not even wearing petticoats?

If you can believe half you hear about what is going on behind the scenes by way of preparing autumn fashions, it's going to be a big year for silks of the stand-alone genre.

Young Sailors With Old Tar Tastes

Nautical fashions are such practical fashions for children that designers are determined that their popularity this year should not terminate with the close of the summer. So for the coming school year there will be many young sailors on the march again. When one considers the strong hold which English styles have taken upon young Americans and the trend toward simplicity in line and effect, the marine theme has better chances for flourishing than last year when first attempts were made to revive them.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Paris reports that blues still are the best sponsored color, but brown is smart with white or yellowy beige or with pink or apricot shade.

HAND AND GLOVE WITH HER GOWN

Copyright, 1934, by Fairchild

Evening gown done in the print featuring a white ground. The shirred treatment gives a snug elastic-like fit to the gown, and the decolletage with its shallow ruche finish is interesting. The gloves match.

Potato Not Irish

Ireland is not the home of the Irish potato. Its original home was western South America where it was found and taken to Europe by explorers who were in search of gold. The potato did not win immediate favor in Europe. War, famine and kingly decrees first were necessary before it gained popularity. In Scotland, it was considered for many years the forbidden fruit that got Adam and Eve into everlasting disgrace.

HERE'S THE RECIPE

FOR IVANHOE MAYONNAISE

. . . in case you'd like to make it yourself

Place the yolks of 3 strictly fresh eggs in a large bowl and then stir in:

1 tablespoon Crystulated Sugar
½ tablespoon Pine Table Salt
½ tablespoon Colman's Mustard
Dash White Pepper

Now START adding oil, 1½ cups, a drop at a time—beating continuously (in our high-speed electric mixers this requires 20 minutes—if you haven't an electric mixer it will require three-quarters of an hour of hard work). When the oil is all in, add a quarter of a cup of white distilled pickling vinegar—slowly. This makes one pint.

It's not a "cheap" recipe, it's not a "quick" recipe—but it's the best one we have ever found—and it's the one we've used for 15 years. At present market prices, the cost is:

3 (fresh) eggs (yolks only)	6c
1½ cups Wesson Oil	18c
½ tablespoon Colman's Mustard	2c
1 tablespoon Sugar, ½ tablespoon of Fine Table Salt, White Pepper	2c
White Distilled Vinegar	2c
Cost to make a pint of Ivanhoe at home	30c

We recommend, however, that you save yourself a lot of work and insure a successful "batch" by ordering a pint of Ivanhoe from your grocer. He'll charge you 32c—35c—but you'll have an E-Z Seal jar worth 6c or 7c at counting time.

Quart size Ivanhoe costs 59c—you save 10c by buying Ivanhoe in quarts!

P. S.—Ivanhoe costs but 1c a portion (tablespoon) and you know that your salad will be good.

WHY NOT BUY A JAR TODAY?

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, June 28—All members of the Firemen's Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps are requested to meet at the fire house in uniform at 8 o'clock sharp this evening to attend the M. E. Church block party.

Miss Mildred Neher of Bayard street is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Rufus LaFevre in Creek Locks.

Everything is in readiness for the Methodist Church block party which will be held on Main street this evening. A cafeteria supper will be served from 5:30 p. m. on. A large crowd is anticipated.

A number of out of town people attended the funeral of Mrs. Harry Mable Wednesday afternoon, among them being Mrs. Eugene Bookhout, wife of the late Rev. Eugene Bookhout, a former pastor of the M. E. Church in this place. The Rev. F. G. Baker of Coldenon, also a former pastor of the Port Ewen M. E. Church, was present and assisted the Rev. J. Theburn Legg in the service.

KERHONKSON

Kerhonkson, June 28—H. Gormer is employed at Terwilliger brothers in the absence of Guernsey Slater, who is in poor health.

Mrs. Dora Keator, who has been spending some time at Kingston, has returned home.

Edward Rose, who has been ill with grip and tonsilitis, is able to be out again.

Mrs. Murphy is entertaining her mother and sister.

Mrs. Claude Terwilliger spent Tuesday at Kingston with her sister, Mrs. George Bush.

Mrs. Hector Osterhoudt, Mrs. Walter Smith and Mrs. John Brady spent Tuesday in Kingston.

Little Elaine Windrum is ill.

The Rev. Mr. Howard attended the Sunday school at Wombaccus on Sunday morning. He was well pleased with the attendance of over 40.

Mrs. Preston Brundage, who has been very ill for several weeks, is gaining slowly.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McDonald spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Ted Nelson.

Mrs. Katie Schoonmaker was entertained at dinner on Sunday at the home of Mrs. Lottie Hook.

Mrs. George Schoonger is entertaining her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Depuy have rented rooms of Willie Windrum and will move there shortly.

The Word "Customs"

The word "customs," meaning tariff dues, is of early origin and arose as an abbreviated form of customary dues. It was used to describe such dues whether payable to church or state. In 1266, in the Exchequer Statute, reference is made to yield of customs duty on wool.

Talbot's Officers Guests of Rotary

The officers of the United States Destroyer Talbot, with the exception of one officer on duty aboard ship, were guests of honor at the Rotary luncheon and meeting in the Governor Clinton Hotel yesterday noon. Following the luncheon, Lieutenant-Commander Bartholdi was persuaded to say a few words, and he told the gathering some of his experience in Shanghai while he was on duty there several years ago.

Reports of the various committees during the past year were read by Alfred Kurdt, secretary of the club, and he was followed by Arthur Connelly, who gave the treasurer's report for the past year.

Mayor Conrad Heiselman was also in attendance and he spoke briefly in appreciation of the people who had worked and given their time so that the officers and crew of the Talbot might have an enjoyable stay in Kingston.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

No Cause to Worry.

Lexington, Ky.—Investigators decided that the culprit in a burglary case was an agile second-story man who climbed a "two-by-four" and entered a narrow window from a shed roof. So they asked that the indictment against their prisoner, Welton Niles, be quashed. Judge King Swope took one look and freed the negro.

Laughs Last.

Salamanca, N. Y.—They all laughed when a slight man wearing glasses lined up with seven husky young farmers and woodsmen for the western New York wood chopping championship.

He did not even remove his coat or cap. The crowd joshed good-naturedly.

But the little man won the championship in three minutes, 53 seconds, about half the time of the runner-up. He turned out to be Louis G. Fisher, an old-time woodsman.

Professor's Excuse.

Hornell, N. Y.—Absent-mindness was blamed by Professor Bristow Adams of Cornell University, commencement speaker here, for getting a police tag on his car when he parked in a street all night in violation of a city ordinance.

"I forgot all about it," he explained.

Silver Lining.

Portland, Ore.—The waterfront strikestrike is bringing a rush of business to Jake Weinstein, blind cigar and candy merchant in the lobby of police headquarters. Patrolmen are working 12-hour shifts, and many special deputies are kept in reserve at headquarters.

No Silver Lining.

"Ah," he murmured, "a check for 17."

"Oh, post-dated," as he read "July 7."

"Oh, not post-dated," he decided, as he saw the date, 1890.

Floral Victory.

For years she has paid tribute with a sprig of posies at every funeral held here. One day the suggestion was made that she seek the position of city treasurer.

"But this is a Republican town," one person protested. "Julia, as a Democrat, will never win."

W. W. White, owner of a funeral parlor here, suggested that "we run Julia upon a posy platform."

Oliver Oliver Opens At Maverick Tonignt

This week's presentation at the Maverick Theatre, Woodstock, is to be Paul Osborn's "Oliver Oliver," a brilliant satiracal comedy which comes to the Maverick Theatre following upon a run at William A. Brady's Playhouse in New York. Paul Osborn is also the author of "The Vinegar Tree," a play whose New York run is remembered.

"Oliver Oliver" will open Thursday evening, June 28, with Robert Elwyn in the title role supported by a cast that includes some of the best talent in the Maverick Theatre company, among them Constance Pellissier, formerly with Sir Frank Benson's Shakespearean Company in England and seen this season with Katherine Hepburn in "The Lake"; Velma Royton, an actress whose reputation for fine characterizations is known in many quarters of the globe; Hannan Clark, who has played leading parts with Margaret Anglin; Mrs. Fiske, Otis Skinner and many others, and who has just returned from a transcontinental tour with Walter Hampden before making his engagement for this season with the Maverick Theatre; Frank Rothe, who has been seen in many big New York productions such as Norman Bel-Geddes' "Hamlet," "Little Women," "Dracula," etc.; Gladys Kleeman, whose fine work is recognized both in England and this country; Stephen Sandes and Harriott Marshall, both of whom have a sound background of experience in many other productions in New York and elsewhere.

Robert Elwyn, managing director for the well-known theatrical producer, Elizabeth B. Grimball, who has leased the Maverick Theatre this season, is also a young actor of great promise, and those who have seen his fine work in former years will want to see him in "Oliver Oliver," his first appearance at the Maverick Theatre for this season. Elwyn is an honor graduate of the New York School of the Theatre, has appeared in several New York productions and is the talented son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Elwyn of Woodstock.

"Oliver Oliver" is a masterpiece of humorous invention, and packed full of subtle and witty lines as well as a goodly amount of that broad farcial humor which is necessary to the successful comedy. The play which concerns the mad and hilarious intrigues among eight people spending a weekend at a country house, moves at top speed, is one long laugh from beginning to end, and is edged with just enough witty malice to add the proper amount of spice.

Constance Pellissier is completely at her element in the character of Constance Oakshot, mother of Oliver Oliver, played by Robert Elwyn, and she and Elwyn in these two roles are expected to give a memorable performance, supported by the deft and clever characterization of Velma Royton as Judith Tiverton, and Hannan Clark as the amusing Justin Stock. Harriott Marshall as Phyllis Tiverton not only looks very lovely on the stage, but shows great capability in the handling of her role. Stephen Sandes as Carl Bridgewater, also gives a very fine performance, as do Gladys Kleeman and Frank Rothe.

"Oliver Oliver" will be shown four consecutive evenings of this week, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 28 to July 1. The play has been very ably directed by Farrell Pelly, decorative sets have been designed by Charles Olmsted and Harper V. Richards, and an interesting musical program will be provided by Leon Kay, violin, and Beatrice Gorow, piano.

Gertrude .... Gladys Kleeman
Constance Oakshot .... Constance Pellissier
Carl Bridgewater .... Stephen Sandes
Williamson .... Frank Rothe
Judith Tiverton .... Velma Royton
Phyllis, her daughter .... Harriott Marshall
Oliver Oliver, Constance's son .... Robert Elwyn
Justin Stock .... Hannan Clark

HERE'S the tire everyone is talking about! It took Goodyear over 24 months to perfect it—but it took only 24 hours for it to become a nationwide sensation.

"G-3" is its name. Just the factory symbol for the tread that stood out in every test—kept its grip 43% longer than former All-Weathers—twice as long as other tires tested against it.

What a tire! Its tread is wider—flatter—has more rubber in it—more grip because there are 16% more non-skid blocks in the center of the tread. And beneath this huskier, handsomer, tougher tread is the only ply material able to stand the strain—Goodyear Supertwist!

Why should you get less safety for your money—when the "G-3" All-Weather costs no more!

Sure, we have a GUARANTEE

—a guarantee against road hazards—a lifetime guarantee against defects of material and workmanship. With the quality of Goodyear Tires where it is today—you can be sure of satisfaction. Come in and see us about it.

Garnishes

For summer foods, pickles, sweet or sour, plain or pimento stuffed olives make tasty as well as effective garnishes.

Dinner Serving Four

Browned Halibut Steak
Tartar Sauce
Baked Stuffed Tomatoes
Biscuits Hawaiian Conserve
Sliced Cucumbers
Watermelon
Coffee

Browned Halibut Steak

1 pound halibut steak
1 cup crumbs
1 egg, beaten
1 tablespoon cold water
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
6 tablespoons fat

Wipe steak with damp cloth. Mix crumbs and seasonings. Dip fish into crumbs, then in egg which has been mixed with water and again in crumbs. Heat fat in frying pan. Add and quickly brown fish. Cover. Bake 35 minutes in moderate oven. Turn several times.

Baked Stuffed Tomatoes

4 firm tomatoes
1 cup boiled rice
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons butter, melted
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon paprika
1 egg, beaten

Hawaiian Conserve

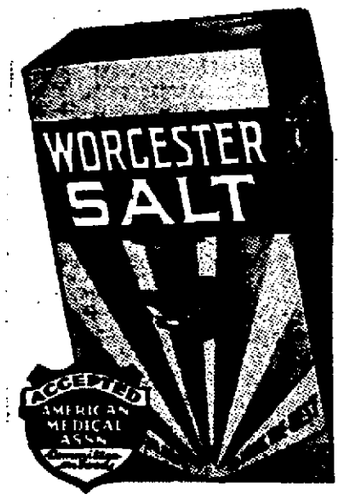

6 cups chopped pineapple
3 cups seeded plums
2 cups raisins
1 cup orange juice
½ cup lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons grated orange rind
2 tablespoons grated lemon rind
3 cups sugar

Mix ingredients and cook slowly until mixture thickens. Requires about 50 minutes, but width and depth of kettle influences cooking time. Stir frequently. When stiff, pour into sterilized jars and seal with melted paraffin.

You'll find today's youthful model so delightfully cool and so easy to put it together.

Carried out in chiffon cotton voile prints, as originally planned, it answers so many occasions for town or for country.

Style No. 2869 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 3¾ yards of 35-inch material.

"The Devil's Hoof"

Among authenticated facts in history that baffle human reason is the case of "The Devil's Hoof." In 1855, in Devonshire, after a heavy snowfall, there was found a straight line of single hoof-prints—3 by 4 inches in size and 9 inches apart—running through many villages and across rivers for a distance of 95 miles. People were panic-stricken, for the marks were not made by a common animal or bird. The mystery was never solved.

Indian Names of Months

The names of the months in Chippewa language, translated into English, are as follows: January, spirit month; February, sucker-fish month; March, snow-crust month; April, breaking-of-snowshoes month; May, month of flowers; June, strawberry month; July, raspberry month; August, blueberry month; September, month of gathering wild rice; October; fall-of-the-leaf month; November, month of freezing, and December, little month of the spirit.

Von Hindenburg's Health Fails; His Successor Is Grave Question

Special Dispatch to The Freeman.

By ANTHONY LANE.

Berlin, June 26.—President Von Hindenburg, it is feared, may soon have to relinquish his high office. The venerable field marshal, who will be 87 in October, is realized to be in failing health, and it is stated on good authority that his physicians do not believe he can much longer discharge the duties of the President.

For many months he has not taken part in official ceremonies, although on rare occasions he has appeared for brief moments at the window of his palace.

At the moment Von Hindenburg, resting quietly in semi-retirement at Neudeck, is again in the limelight, as he seeks to compose the differences between Vice-Chancellor Von Papen and Minister of Propaganda Goebbels that threaten to split the Nazis. But it is taken for granted that the old field marshal will not for long continue as head of the state.

When the aged hero leaves the stage, there will arise the grave question of his successor. Obviously there will be no open election, as in the past. The National Socialist government will designate a candidate, and in all probability the name of that candidate will be submitted to a kind of plebiscite, the voters having the right to vote "yes" or "no".

Until recently there was a feeling that Hitler might designate a Hohenzollern as successor to Von Hindenburg, but that plan, if it ever was seriously entertained, seems to have been dropped. It is more likely today that Hitler himself will be the next to sit in the Presidential chair.

But Hitler has no intention, it can be stated with certainty, of withdrawing from the active leadership of the nation. He will not become, like Von Hindenburg, a mere rubber stamp for the ratification of the decrees of the chancellor. Therefore, if Hitler becomes President it will first be necessary to amend the constitution and make the President the chief executive official of the nation.

It is understood here that the work of constitutional revision has been going on secretly for some time, and that the Reichstag will probably be called upon on some not far distant day to adopt a new constitution. In the new document it will not be surprising to find that the President will play a part analogous to that of the President of the United States, while the office of chancellor, heretofore the most powerful in Germany, will be reduced to that of a mere secretary of state.

If Hitler, as is now expected, ascends to the Presidency, the assumption is that Herman Goering, Prussian premier, will step into the chancellorship. That prospect, it is whispered in informed circles, does not entirely please the Fuehrer. Although the legal powers of the chancellorship may be greatly curtailed in the new constitution, the moral prestige of the chancellorship cannot be destroyed overnight. Germans will not quickly forget that the post was once held by Bismarck, and consequently whoever holds that office will hold a certain sway over the people.

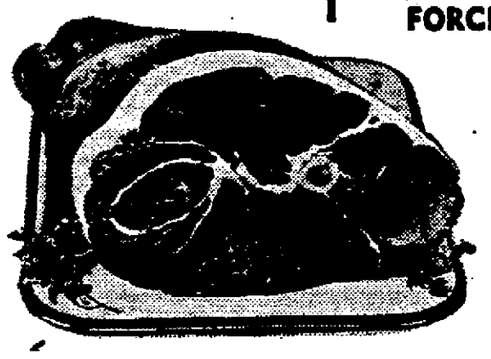

Jealousy between Hitler and Goering has always been acute, and it is remarked that even if boosted into the Presidency itself, Hitler will look with a jaundiced eye on Goering's rise to a higher position than he now holds. The suggestion has been made that the title of chancellor may be abolished under the New Deal, but to do that would necessitate a complete revision of the German legal code and the technical difficulties would probably prove to be insurmountable.

Erin's Farming On Up Grade Free State Officials Assert

By HERBERTIE JOHNS

Dublin (AP).—The Irish farmer is shivering in an economic blizzard—but the Free State government refuses to concede that agriculture is going to pot.

It shows little patience with opposition charges that the government's policies are driving the farmer to ruin with restrictions, taxation and the cutting off of his English market.

The government does not deny that the trouble with Britain has crimped the Irish farmer through the imposition of additional English tariffs on Irish produce.

Crops Profit Cattle Men

The government's policy, as explained by President Eamon DeValera, is to develop self-sufficiency and make the country less dependent on the British market.

"We admit," says Dr. James Ryan, minister of agriculture, "that the cattle farmers have been hit, and that the condition of the big landholders on the whole is bad.

"This applies, however, only to the big land owner who engages in cattle raising. The big farmer who has turned to tillage has done very well.

"I believe that the small farmer, and two thirds of the farmers in this country are small farmers, are not in such a bad condition as they sometimes are pictured."

Prices Shrink By Half

The cattl eraisers have seen their market shrink within two years from $10 a hundredweight to about $5.88. A year ago the average price for beef was $6.56.

The opposition charges that it is not the Irish price which counts so much; that it is the British, for the largest market is there.

The agriculture department points out that while the Irish home price has dropped approximately $4.25, the price in Britain has slumped $2.50, leaving the net loss for the Irish not as great as first it appears.

In other classifications than cattle, the Saorstat feels its farmers are doing well. Butter, its figures show, now brings $25.50 a hundredweight eight months of the year and $33.50 the remaining four months, as against the present world price of $20.

Dairy Produce Shows Gain

Bacon, which according to Dr. Ryan has "brought a good price the last six months" returns the farmer $15 a hundredweight, compared with $10 18 months ago.

Eggs and poultry, the department says, are above the world price, and eggs bring the farmer about 18 cents a dozen. Sheep and lambs command the best prices since August, 1931.

Taxes of the small farmer, who on the average tills about 15 acres, are approximately 50 cents an acre, described by the department as "a little lower" than in previous years. Rents through a recent land act have been reduced to about 75 cents an acre.

When Irish Eyes Are Smiling

The donkey cart, traditional conveyance of cottagers on the Emerald Isle, is busy on market days. This mother and daughter greeted the photographer with merry quips as they set out to town.

New Marking Makes Sun Dial Accurate as Clock

State College, Pa.—A simple system for making the markings of an ordinary sun dial as accurate as those of a specially-made clock has been perfected by Prof. Leland S. Rhodes, department of engineering, Pennsylvania State college.

To eliminate the sun dial error, which may be as much as fifty minutes, Professor Rhodes inscribed several half circles on the dial instead of the customary one, spacing them for the different seasons of the year. Across the ends of the half circles he marked the months and dates to which several semi-circles apply in computing the shadow reading in terms of standard time on a given day.

Bass Season July 1.

The bass season opens Sunday, July first, and closes November 30. Minimum length is ten inches and the limit per day in one person is fifteen, in a boat with two or more persons the limit is twenty-five. In Lake George the minimum length is twelve inches and the catch ten per person. Various exceptions in the state apply and before fishing persons should consult the game law. Bass may not be offered for sale.

Francis R. Doyle Opens Law Offices

Francis R. Doyle, who on June 20 received his degree from Yale Law School, has joined the list of Kingston attorneys and will on Monday enter the law office of Lloyd R. LeFever at 44 Main street.

Mr. Doyle, who is a son of William S. Doyle, deputy county treasurer, is a native of Ellenville, where he is popular and has a host of friends who will wish him success as he enters upon his professional career. He received his preliminary education in the Ellenville schools and at Phillips-Exeter Academy. In 1927 he graduated from Yale University, following which for three years he was engaged with the New York house of Edward B. Smith & Co., investment bankers. While in New York he was a member of Squadron A and also joined the Yale Club, in which he still retains his membership. Later he decided to take up the profession of law and entered the Yale Law School, finishing his course there this spring. Mr. Doyle will make his home in Kingston.

Slot Machines Await Destruction

Very recent developments would seem to indicate that the slot machine as a source of any particular trouble, in this section at least, is rapidly approaching the status of a dead issue.

Wednesday 15 machines were surrendered to deputies representing Sheriff John A. Sanz and District Attorney Cleon B. Murray and the city police under Chief J. Allan Wood. These are in addition to the two machines seized at Ruby first of the week.

Twelve machines taken over in the city have been stored at police headquarters awaiting a court order for their destruction. Two machines taken in the town of Ulster, with the two seized at Ruby will probably be destroyed before Justice Walter Webber at Lake Katrine this afternoon. A machine taken in the town of Esopus was by order of Justice H. E. McKenzie destroyed by Deputies Molyneaux and Vredenburgh this morning.

Convict Norma Millen On Three Indictments

Clean Sweep for the State in Its Prosecution of One of the Most Audacious Crimes in Its History.

Dedham, Mass., June 28 (AP).—Norma Millen, daughter of a former minister and mate of a machine gunner, was convicted today of being an accessory after the fact of robbery and murder.

Her trial, which lasted six days, ended shortly after midnight with conviction on three indictments—a clean sweep for the state in its prosecution of one of the most audacious crimes in its history.

Their convictions arose from the robbery of the Needham Trust Company in which two policemen fell mortally wounded in the snow on a frosty February day.

The Norfolk county jury deliberated more than seven hours before it reached a decision.

Norma, standing erect, stared straight ahead. It seemed that she had exhausted her capacity for dismay; that the past four months of incarceration culminated by her gruelling trial had drained her completely of emotion.

No sentence was pronounced and court was adjourned swiftly. She will come again before the bar next fall to hear the sentence.

It can be, at its very worst, 21 years in prison. It was expected that appeals would be filed by her counsel, George A. Douglas.

Norma walked from the court room and the court house maintaining her composure. Back to the jail she went; back under the same roof with the husband she could not ask for comfort.

Murton, who had beseeched a guard during the waiting hours for news of progress of the trial, was told simply that she was "back."

OLD WHITBY

Prepared by National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—WNU Service.

MELLOWED by time, Whitby, climbing the cliffs of the North sea coast to which it has clung for centuries, draws many visitors who are lured by the atmosphere of old England.

Most of the old part of the town remains as it was hundreds of years ago, dominated by the parish church, St. Mary's—built in 1100—and the famous ruins of Whitby abbey.

Today Whitby is a fishing port only, and its real splendors belong to the past: to the days of the old Saxon monastery of St. Hilda and Caedmon; to the days of the Great Synod in 664, when Saxon kings and the leading ecclesiastic lights of the land met with pomp and circumstance to settle the vexed question of the date of Easter; to the days of wooden ships and wooden ship-building, when Whitby was fifth port in England and her sturdy, oak-built ships were famed across the seven seas; to the days when Whitby was one of the chief bases of the Greenland whaling industry, and Cook and Scoresby sailed from the port on their exciting enterprises; to the days when 1,500 men were regularly employed mining and carving jet (a black semi-precious mineral) and twice this number were engaged in the alum industry along the coast.

There is no shipping now. At the dawn of the great Iron age some of the "yards" turned to iron, and many fine screw steamers were built on the stocks which then lined the upper harbor. But the shallowness of that harbor and the distance from foundries and rolling mills were fatal handicaps, and Whitby found annihilating rivals in the ports of the Tees and the Tyne.

The alum industry died with the discovery of a cheaper method of production.

A trade which depends on the fickleness of feminine fashion is built on sand, and from a peak of prosperity reached in that glum period of court mourning that followed the death of Queen Victoria's consort, Prince Albert, the jet trade declined, until today it supports scarcely more than a dozen craftsmen.

Ancient, Crooked Streets.

The old town's streets are tortuous and narrow. The names of the chief ones, Baxtergate and Flowergate, suggest that they were built when there were no traffic problems. There is documentary evidence of their existence in the Fourteenth century. Flowergate climbs down the slope of the West Cliff. Baxtergate runs parallel to the docks. A steel bridge, originally a wooden drawbridge, conducts its bewildered traffic to the east side of the harbor, and here is the equally ancient and ever narrower Church street again running parallel to the harbor and leading to the foot of the famous 199 steps which the faithful must climb to attend worship in the parish church, St. Mary's.

Whitby is the shopping center for a wide rural area. Its shops are chiefly in the two main streets and its market bucks off Church street. The market day is Saturday.

Early in the morning the farmers arrive in their neat little traps, with baskets of butter, eggs, chickens, curds (filling for the famous Yorkshire cheesecakes), trussed geese, rabbits, and the like.

Chiefly in Church street are the shops of the jet and fossil dealers. Jet is fossilized wood converted into carbon. It is found in beds known as jet rock, which crop out in several places along the coast. It does not occur in seams, like coal, but in isolated pockets, which make its mining a speculative business. A man might dig for months and not find a handful. A good pocket, however, when the trade was in its heyday, might have been worth anything up to $250.

Its Jet Is Distinctive.

While there is diverse opinion regarding the merits of jet as a medium for the true artist, it has inspired some very fine and original carving. It is easy to work and takes on a lovely polish, so different from the glaze of glass and imitation jet as the polish of cheap furniture is from the patina of a genuine piece of Queen Anne. Moreover, while jet is found elsewhere, notably in Spain, Whitby jet is distinctive.

Most of the famous craftsmen are dead, and there has been a tendency for their successors to keep the standardized designs. But here and there one of them will show a flash of originality, and hope endures that the pendulum of fashion may swing back.

The fossils which form the second bow of the Whitby jet dealers have a more strictly scientific interest. The commonest is the ammonite. It is found in immense profusion along the entire coast, but from the geologist's point of view its most interesting aspect is its extraordinary variety. The ammonite, of course, was a marine animal belonging to the family of squids and octopuses. Its nearest existing relative is the nautilus. Its variations are distinguished by size, by number and shape of the corrugations of its shell, by the presence or absence of spines or tubercles.

The ammonite, which is particularly abundant on the rocks at the foot of the Abbey cliff, has given rise to an interesting legend which still finds credence among Whitby fisher folk. They believe it to be the petrified remains of a snake. Rarely, however, is a specimen found with its "head" intact. The story goes that in the days of St. Hilda, the district suffered from a plague of adders. The holy lady was prevailed upon to use her influence against them, with the result that first their heads were prayed off and then their bodies were turned into stone.

Cottages of the Fishermen.

From the main streets of Whitby—Baxtergate, Flowergate, Church street—and from Skinner street, Sandgate, Haggersgate and St. Ann's Staith, narrow lanes twist among the old cottages or lead to watery dead ends.

The cottages are built in amazing confusion. One has the impression that they must have pushed themselves up, mushroom fashion, from the ground wherever there was space. They have no gardens. They have, with few exceptions, no view save into their neighbor's parlor or down his chimney stack. They are, however, all built on one general plan, which gives a kitchen, parlor, a best room, two bedrooms, and an attic. Their architects and builders were all men of the sea. Today it is chiefly the fishermen who live in them.

Even the fishing trade of Whitby has suffered more than an ordinary share of economic vicissitude. Old residents of the town can remember the time when, in summer, during the height of the North sea herring season, the harbor was a forest of masts. And they have since seen the time when the unloading of a solitary herring drifter created a sensation. The herring trade has vanished. But that spirit without which no industry can thrive has remained alive in the breasts of the sturdy Whitby men, and the port has of late years experienced a revival in the crab and lobster trade.

Coble a Fine Surf Boat.

That view to the east across the harbor, so beloved of painters and photographers, would not be complete without the fishing craft, moored hard up to the very threshold of the cottages; without the lobster pots stacked upon the quays, the salmon nets spread out on poles to dry in the sun; without the groups of blue-jerseyed, salt-tanned men, busy with their gear or gossiping. Some of these men are old, white-bearded, and loquacious; but most of them are in their prime, tall, square-shouldered; soft, catlike in the way they move about, restrained in their speech, watchful.

The type of craft characteristic of the coast is the coble. No photograph can show its superb sailing qualities. Its design is the evolutionary outcome of conditions. It is pre-eminently a surf boat.

The coble's greatest draft is forward, and on an open shore it is handled stern first, its slender bows offering no resistance to the surf. It sails fast and very close to the wind, because its long rudder acts as a keel. But the rudder is also a source of danger, for it may foul a mass of seaweed or become entangled in anchored fishing gear when the boat is in a heavy breeze. The coble, like a spirited horse, demands expert handling.

ADVERTISE IN THE FREEMAN AND REAP THE REWARDS.

French Explorer Lands Near Green Bay In 1634

Eager to find a new trail to the Orient, Jean Nicolet skimmed over the lakes and rivers of the northwest to land at what he thought was China in 1634. His trail is indicated on the map above. The painting is an artist's idea of how he looked in the robes he wore to greet his "Chinese" friends. Instead of Chinese he found Indians and opened up rich trading territory around Green Bay, Wis., which this year celebrates the 300th anniversary of Nicolet's arrival.

Chemists' Dyes

Lie Like Snowball

Xenon's Discovery

The chemical element xenon was discovered in 1898 by Ramsay and Travers and named after the Greek word for "stranger."

Speed of Submarine

A submarine can travel only about one-third as fast under water, guided by a periscope, as when it travels on the surface.

HIGH FALLS SCHOOL HELD ITS GRADUATION

The fifth annual commencement of the High Falls school was held Friday evening, June 22, in the school assembly room. A program was given to a large group of interested parents and friends.

The Mothers' Club gave each of the graduates a class pin. This is the first class to have pins and they are very proud of them. The Mothers' Club deserves credit for its year's work toward making the school the best possible.

Invented Gatling Gun

Gatling gun is a rapid-fire machine gun invented by Richard Jordan Gatling, an American. He conceived the idea in 1861 and succeeded in perfecting a gun that would discharge 350 shots per minute in 1862.

Poking around the garden and the neighborhood golf course may be your idea of a perfectly swell way to spend two weeks this summer but then you won't have to answer the doorbell, shoo away peddlers, cook the dinners, wash the dishes, bathe the children and make the beds—or wear the same house dress day in and day out all summer long.

Why not slip off and forget about kitchen sinks and grocery bills? Why not meet new people and tramp all day just so you can kick off your shoes and wiggle your toes in a brook? Why not give your weary nerves a chance to relax so you can be your swell, good-natured self? Why not fall head-over-heels in love again with the wonderful girl your married? Why not—when it costs so downright little! Figure what you save on food and gas and light and you may even come out money ahead. Especially if you do your vacation-shopping through the Daily Freeman.

Get out your pencil and check the "going away" ads in this newspaper right now for what you need. Daily Freeman advertisers are offering sports togs, golf needs, fishing tackle, beach wear and loads of other things at special prices. You'll get the thrill of your life when you see how much you can buy for so little. But act now. Don't put it off a minute longer. A real vacation is a cheap investment this year. And it never paid bigger returns.

World Peace Claims Rotary's Attention

Detroit, June 28 (AP)—World peace, and how to keep it, claimed the attention of the delegates to Rotary International's twenty-fifth annual convention which moved into its fourth session here today.

A crowded docket, in which the peace proposals held a prominent place, confronted the delegates as they squared away for one of the most important business meetings since the convention opened Monday.

The peace proposal was expected to reach the convention floor as part of the report of the council on legislation and it was indicated the resolution would suggest the setting of a "peace week" and the offering of an annual prize by Rotary for contributions to world peace.

Albany Is Silent On Woman's Reprieve

Albany, N. Y., June 28 (AP)—No word came from the executive chamber today as the hour approached for the execution tonight of Mrs. Anna Antonia, 24 year old mother, convicted of the murder of her husband.

Governor Herbert H. Lehman reached his desk early. If he should decide to grant clemency, he might issue a statement or else merely notify Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing not to perform the execution. If the governor has decided to let Mrs. Antonio die, and if he follows custom in rejecting the clemency appeal, he will issue no statement whatever.

Mrs. Antonio is scheduled to die about 11 p. m. (E. S. T.)

Daniel H. Prior, counsel for Mrs. Antonio, and Charles J. Duncan, attorney for Samuel Feraci, planned to confer at noon to determine if there was anything more they might do to save their clients. Feraci and Vincent Scatta were convicted and sentenced to die as hired killers of Mrs. Antonio's husband.

Dynamite Explodes Killing 10 Workers

Seven survivors were in a hospital, three of them in critical condition.

Seven were killed outright in the blast which shook the countryside and was heard as far as 30 miles away.

Plant officials said the exact cause of the blast might never be known. A minor explosion and a fire, however, preceded it.

Alleged German Spy Work Startles London

London, June 28 (AP)—London read with alarm today sensational disclosures of alleged German experiments at innoculating the vast subway transport systems of London and Paris with Bacilli and Gas.

The magazine "Nineteenth Century Review" printed alleged secret documents describing the spreading of harmless bacteria through underground ventilating systems by secret agents to determine the percentage of germs which could be introduced among the thousands of underground travelers.

The magazine claimed the documents came from responsible persons in Germany, and that one of them revealed "very good results" from a dozen tests in paris.

Moak-Myer.

Miss Mary Myer and Francis C. Moak, both of Flatbush, were married Saturday, June 23, at Flatbush, by the Rev. A. V. S. Wallace. They were attended by Miss Helen Myer and Clarence Myer, a sister and brother of the bride.

Bruck-Coughlin.

Miss Elizabeth Coughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coughlin, 27 Adams street and Edward Bruck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bruck, 62 Smith avenue, were married at St. Mary's Church, Sunday, June 24. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William H. Kennedy. The couple were atended by Mr. and Mrs. Grover S. Hoffay. They will reside at 326 Washington avenue.

Black-Ashdown.

Miss Gladys M. Ashdown of 102 O'Neil street and Walter A. Black of 327 Broadway were married at 8:30 this morning, at St. Joseph's Church. Mr. Black has a position with the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation and his bride has been engaged as a stenographer with the Kingston Trust Co. Both are popular, with a large circle of friends who will wish for them a happy married life.

Hart-Schmidt.

Sunday, June 17, a very pretty wedding was solemnized at Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus, when the Rev. George Bienlein, C.S.S.R., united in marriage Miss Ruth Schmidt of Sleightsburg and John J. Hart of Esopus. The bride was attended by Miss Frieda Kendricks of Kingston. The best man was Theodore A. Iwets of West Park. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom where about 75 relatives and close friends of the bride and groom had an enjoyable time. Guests were present from New York city, New Jersey, Albany, Hudson, Kingston and vicinity. After the reception the happy couple left on a honeymoon for Washington, D. C., Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York. On their return they will reside at Esopus. The first few days will be spent in arranging the many beautiful and useful gifts showered upon them by their host of friends.

Lasher-Lewis

Miss Anna Janet Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd G. Lewis, and Elwood Louis Lasher, both of Saugerties, were married at St. John's Episcopal Church, this city, at noon Wednesday. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. P. Kemper, rector of the church. Miss Kathryn Lasher, sister of the groom, was maid of honor and Clarence Coon of West Camp acted as best man. The bride was very attractively attired in a white afternoon gown and carried a bouquet of white roses and swansonia. The maid of honor was also prettily dressed in yellow crepe and carried talisman roses. After the ceremony a dinner was partaken of at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The newly wedded couple then left for a honeymoon trip through the New England states. On their return they will reside on Elm street, Saugerties. The bride is one of Saugerties' very highly esteemed young women and is connected with the office of Attorney Clyde F. Gardner. The groom is also a much respected young man and is employed by the Amos Post estate. Both have a large circle of friends who will wish for them a very happy wedded life.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 28 (AP).—Financial markets were in a waiting mood today and prices in most categories moved aimlessly in an unimportant fractional range.

The return to the doldrums seemingly was predicated on the expectancy that a cue to immediate trends would be furnished by Washington and that, for the moment, discretion was the better part of valor.

Shares of Alaska Juneau, Montgomery Ward, Howe Sound, Cerro De Pasco, U. S. Smelting and American Smelting were higher. Cerro De Pasco reached a new year's high. Cuban American Sugar Preferred also made a new 1934 top with an advance of some 3 points. South Puerto Rican Sugar, American Sugar Refining, Armour Preferred, Santa Fe and Chrysler firmed fractionally to a point or more. Allied Chemical lost about 2 and Loew's, Fox and Corn Products yielded a point or more each. Slightly lower quotations were recorded by American Telephone, American Can, Western Union, General Motors, Union Pacific, U. S. Steel common and preferred, N. Y. Central and Columbian Carbon.

Quotations given by Parker, McElroy & Co., members, N. Y. Stock Exchange, 120 Broadway, New York city; branch office, 252 Wall street.

HIGHLAND

Highland, June 25—Mr. and Mrs. William H. Maynard and children and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Maynard went to Camp Suits-Us on the Wallkill Wednesday, where the latter couple will remain for a day or two.

Philip T. Schantz reports the village reservoirs full and that they will place copper sulphate in the lower reservoir and later will put in Newchar, a form of charcoal. This is to prevent the growths which form and keep the taste sweet. Two leaks have been repaired and the service lines at A. B. Merritt's and Mrs. L. M. T. Vail's repaired. As superintendent, Mr. Schantz wishes that anyone who knows of leaks would report them. The survey of the Public Service commission as to the revision of rates had reached the local company, but in this case there will be no changes made in the rates.

Misses Lillian and Marie Hyatt and Floyd Hyatt of Sidney returned Wednesday evening after an overnight visit with their sister, Mrs. Delvello S. Haynes, in the Presbyterian manse.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter DeMare and two children, Miss Francis Cottine and Edward Cottine, of New York were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Cottine over Friday night for the graduating of Bertram Cottine, Jr., into high school.

Mr. and Mrs. George Canfield were in New York Wednesday to attend the funeral of the former's brother, William Canfield.

At the last meeting of Ida McKinley Council Misses Emma Graham and Catherine Rheal were initiated as members.

Mrs. Mary A. Eckert of Lloyd, Mrs. J. Henderson of West New York, N. J., and Mrs. William Sandford of Kingston were guests at the home of L. E. Osterhoudt for the commencement.

The Court Nilan Bridge Club is entertained Thursday evening by Mrs. Chester Coutant.

The supervisor, town clerk and three assessors met this week and made out the jury list.

Miss Bertha Hunt of Arena is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Melius.

Miss Lauretta Ostrander will have charge of the devotions. Mrs. Dumm will have the program. There will be a self denial offering. Officers will be elected for the ensuing year and dues collected in the foreign society. The hostesses will be Mrs. S. P. Bouten and Mrs. N. H. Hogeboom. Refreshments will be served.

Fog Delays Gliders.

Elmira, N. Y., June 28 (AP)—A heavy fog shrouded the mountainous take-off site of the national soaring contests today, but pilots hurried their preparations for flights on the prospect of favorable winds as soon as the air cleared.

Dr. Karl O. Lange, director of the Massachusetts institute of technology weather bureau at the field, said he expected good gliding conditions by later morning which would continue throughout the day.

Americans Blast Way Through Third Round

Wimbledon, Eng., June 28 (AP)—Helen Hull Jacobs, the American champion and favorite to replace Helen Wills Moody as women's singles queen in the Wimbledon championships, today advanced to the third round at the expense of her young countrywoman, Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., by scores of 6-2, 6-1.

Carolin Babcock of Los Angeles, playing her third round match, continued to impress observers by her skill in defeating Mrs. A. H. Mellows of England, 6-1, 6-3.

Sidney B. Wood, Jr., of New York, member of the United States Davis Cup Team, came with a rush after losing the first set and whipped H. G. N. Cooper of England, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1, in a third round match.

Fred Perry, the homebred Davis Cup ace, defeated the hard-hitting Roderick Menzel of Czechoslovakia, 0-6, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2.

Dave Jones, Cambridge student but former Columbia University star, defeated J. Siba, of Czechslovakia, 4-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-1, 6-3.

Lester Stoefen joined his Davis Cup teammates and Perry in the fourth round with a 6-4, 6-4, 6-3 victory over the one-time boy wonder of the French courts, Marcel Bernard.

George Lott, fifth and last of the Americans to play, also won his third round match, defeating Nigel Sharpe, the Englishman who is chiefly noted for a defeat of Henri Cochet at Wimbledon, 7-5, 2-6, 6-3, 1-6, 6-4.

Class Day, Graduation At Highland High

Highland, June 28—A trial by jury featured the class day exercises of Highland High School on Monday night in the Grange hall, with Vincent Hopper as the judge. The class of '35 claimed that the class of '34 robbed its treasury, bribed Mr. Campbell and the faculty to give its diplomas and had acted in a manner unbecoming to prospective graduates.

The jury was: Josephine Brescia, Laura Clark, John De Lorenzo, Lorenzo Diorio, Katharine Deyo, Melvin Hurd, Margaret Hyatt, Emily Lent, Mildred Osterhoudt, Mary Pafumi, William Paladino, Catherine Schepmoes, Helen Sherin, Hilda Smith, Grace Smith, Kathleen Teeling, Florence Terwilliger, Frances Tortorella. Clerk, Xenia Colyer; reporters, Ethel Swift, Francis Gibney; counsel for defendants, Patsy Franciola; prosecuting attorney, Frank Pinna; court attendant, Augustus Ciaccio. The jury decided that the class of '35 had no grounds for suit.

The advice to the Juniors was given by Eleanor Feldt and Dorothy Donovan; response was made by Lois Williams. The last will and testament was read by Grace Smith and Margaret Plunkett; class prophecy by Helen Sherin and Margaret Hyatt and the Senior bequeaths by Mary Donovan and Helena Schoonmaker.

The hall had been decorated with greens about the stage where Si Austin's orchestra sat; and delphinium blue, the colors of the Junior class, who gave the farewell to the Seniors, was also used. The decorating committee was: Carl Dapp, Ethel Vandevoort, Helena Terwilliger, Lois Williams, Henrietta Woolsey, Joseph Gruner, Thomas Shay, Albert Zimmerman, John Relyea, Robert Dean. A large crowd arrived for the dancing.

Commencement Tuesday night in the Methodist Church brought out a large crowd. The program: Organ processional, Myrtle Thompson; invocation, the Rev. Herbert Killinder; salutatory, Emily Lent; song, "Pale Moon", Donald Fellows; introduction of speaker, Herbert Campbell; address, Jacob H. Strong; valedictory, Zenia Colyer; songs, "Good-bye Old High", "The Old Refrain"; presentation of diplomas, Mrs. Jennie Rose, president of board of trustees; presentation of P. E. O. prize of $10 to Eleanor Feldt for the greatest advancement, made by Mrs. Gordon Wilcox; presentation of P.-T. A. prize of $5 to the best history student, to Emily Lent by Mrs. Gladys Mears; benediction, the Rev. D. S. Haynes.

Will Plant Trout In Streams Monday

The Ulster County Fish & Game Protective Association will plant 40 cans of fingerling trout in the trout streams of Ulster county on Monday. The fish will be delivered at the court house on Wall street that morning at 11 o'clock. The association is extending an invitation to any young boy who desires to see trout planted to be at the court house at that time and they will be taken along on the trucks. Boys who make the trip should carry a lunch with them. The boys are invited as the association is anxious to interest the youth of the city in fishing.

To Be Guests at Huling's.

Several of the officers from the U. S. Destroyer Talbot, 114, and their wives have been invited as guests at a party at Huling's Barn across the viaduct this evening. Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Logan will be the hosts to the servicemen.

Canada's Future

According to all the rules of logic, Canada, rich in a variety of natural resources and with a progressive people, must eventually become a great manufacturing country.

Natalie Clamps On the Lid

By EDWARD E. MONTROY

DICK NEWTON'S neck came down on the gatepost with the staccato clip of a man either in haste or suffering from some mental embarrassment. From the forbidding scowl on his usually too serene, handsome face it was obviously anger that was driving him along the street. And anger it was! He was furious at himself—at his fiancee, Natalie Waverly—and more especially at his future mother-in-law. He had felt that something was wrong the minute he had entered his fiancee's apartment that evening. Tired out from a hard day at the office and looking forward to a pleasant restful evening, he had found Natalie with her blue eyes still dewy from recently shed tears.

"Dearest, what's the matter?" he asked, kissing her eyelids gently.

"Is she worse?"

"N-no, but she isn't getting strong as she should and the doctor said today she needed a complete change and that she must not attempt to spend the long severe winter here. He suggested Florida."

"Haven't you—have you enough money to manage it?"

In reply Natalie only burst into tears. His brain was working rapidly as he comforted her. He had had no idea that his fiancee and her mother were in such straitened circumstances.

"Sh-hhh, Natalie. We must do something. Don't cry. It breaks my heart. I can't bear to see you so miserable. Of course we can't let her stay here if there's any danger—to her health. But, oh, Natalie darling, I haven't saved a cent toward our little home yet. Lord knows where the money goes, and this will mean that I'll have to wait that much longer for you."

"Dick, would you really be willing to help? You're an angel—you're too good!" She was clinging to him now in an ecstacy of joy. A little sigh escaped her, a sigh of sheer relief.

"I've been so worried. If I could only get out and work, it would be different, but that would mean hiring a trained nurse and it would cost more in the end than I could ever earn. I'm no good."

"Hush, Natalie, don't let me hear you say that again. How much will it take?"

"If only she could go alone, but there'll be two of us, you see."

"You're going away—leave me?" he asked, stunned. It was the first time he had really taken in the situation.

"But it'll only be a few months and I'll write every day and besides it'll be just as hard on me. One good thing, you won't have me near to spend so much money on all the time in your dear generous way; ten dollars for one evening's entertainment and flowers or candy every day. It's ridiculous!"

"But I love to spend it on you. You don't seem to understand," he said, his voice breaking. "I can't let you go, Natalie. It's asking too much."

When he left that evening and went furiously down the street it had all been settled. He was to send on every cent he could and they would try to make out on it. He laughed harshly as the irony of the situation came more and more clearly to him. He was to work like the devil and deny himself every little comfort in order to keep his fiancee away from him.

The following Saturday he stood under the trainshed and watched the train crawl out of the station with Natalie and her mother on board. Then he hurried back to the office and worked over a plan for increasing his sales so that his commissions would help meet the added expense. He would not have his future mother-in-law thinking he wasn't able to provide, so he worked night and day until he could double the amount Dorothy had said they would need.

"Dick, darling, will you be very mad if I tell you something?"

"Good lord," he thought, "I guess she wants to take her mother to Europe this time," but he merely answered:

"You couldn't make me mad if you tried."

"A certified check for $2,200!" he exclaimed. "Natalie, how'd you make it? Real estate?"

"I didn't. You did," she laughed. "You see, Dick, I thought you were spending too much and hadn't saved a cent in the six months we'd been engaged, so I practiced a little deception by pretending we needed the money. Mother was furious but she finally consented to help me carry it through."

"You little imp," he said, putting his arm around her. "Why—we can get married right away, can't we?"

"Any time," she answered shyly. "Mother and I made my trousseau in Florida."

"Natalie, you're the most satisfactory little person I ever knew. I never saved so much in my life before," he laughed. "You'll certainly have to do our banking in the future."

"I will, but I promise never to clamp on the lid quite so tight again," she replied happily.

Oregon White Oak Used

Oregon white oak is practically the only wood used for ax handles, and lumber plus in the Pacific Northwest. In the Eastern States hickory ranks first among handle woods, and black locust among woods for lumber piles.

GREEN-EYED MONSTER

One after another the neighbors had come in to admire the new baby that had arrived at the Jones household. Little Mary was rather fed up with all the attention that was lavished on the newcomer—attention which had, up till then, been hers.

"Doesn't need to talk," exclaimed the friend, astonished.

"No," said the little girl bitterly. "All the baby has to do is to yell, and it gets everything worth having in the house."

SCHEMER

"Jack and I have parted forever."

Impossible Requirement

Two old settlers, confirmed bachelors, sat in the backwoods. The conversation drifted from politics to cooking.

"I got one o' them there cookery books once, but I never could do nothing with it," said one.

"Too much fancy work in it?" asked the other.

"You've hit it. Everyone of them recipes began in the same way: 'Take a clean dish—' and that settled me."

Coughed

The tenderfoot thought he could ride, and in front of a lot of cowboys mounted a pony. The pony soon threw him. A cowboy, helping him up, said: "Hello! What threw you?"

"What threw me? Why, she bucked something fearful! Didn't you see her buck?" cried the tenderfoot.

"Buck?" said the cowboy. "Rats! She only coughed!"

Great Plans

A very kind old lady was calling on a prison convict in order to cheer him up prior to his being set free. "Have you any plans for the future when you are released?" she inquired, sympathetically.

"Yes," said the culprit, "I've got the plans of three banks, two post offices and a gas station."—Pathfinder Magazine.

HER GREAT EFFORT

"And you have had the same servant for two years?"

"Yes; she says she doesn't believe in changing after she has gone to the trouble of teaching the family her ways."

Rushing It Through

Didn't Take Effect

"I am delighted to meet you!" said the father of a college student, shaking hands warmly with the professor. "My son took algebra from you last year."

"Pardon me," said the professor, "he was exposed to it, but did not take it."

May Be So!

First Little Boy—Say, do you believe there's a devil?

The Chaser

Visitor—That was a lovely recitation, my dear. Do you like to recite?

Mary—Oh, no. I don't like it much, but mother gets me to do it when she wants people to go.

He Knows

Percy—Er—er—um—um—that is—ah—might I—er—

No Fun for Him

"Why don't you believe in men going about in bathing costumes all day?"

Alice Ward Breaks Arm.

Alice Ward, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ward, of 97 Clifton avenue, while playing on a ladder Wednesday afternoon, fell and broke an arm. Dr. Jacobson was called and removed the little girl to the Kingston Hospital for an X-ray of the fracture. After the bones were set Alice returned to her home.

Pal Says Dillinger Dead, Cops Get "Tip"

St. Paul, June 28 (AP)—John Dillinger, long hunted outlaw, is dead Albert "Pat" Reilly, held on charges of harboring the fugitive here this spring, told federal investigators today.

Reilly told questioners that Tommy Carroll, during a conversation in Minneapolis before Carroll was slain at Waterloo, Iowa, June 7, had confided to him the desperado was dead.

The statement regarding Dillinger's death came during the relentless questioning of Reilly which began immediately after his capture in a Minneapolis apartment and continued unabated today.

While Reilly was making this statement, Chicago detectives heard Dillinger attended a ball game between the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers in the Illinois city two days ago.

Pressed for information about the whereabouts of the elusive outlaw, Reilly is reported to have said: "Tommy told me that John is dead."

About the Folks

Mrs. Pauline Kidd of 209 Greenkill avenue is convalescing at the Kingston Hospital from an operation performed last Tuesday.

Elaine M. Windrum, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Windrum of Kerhonkson, was operated on for appendicitis at the Kingston Hospital Tuesday. The operation was performed by Dr. Frederick Snyder.

HANDICAP KIDS HOLD CONTINENT'S SPOTLIGHT

Corbeil, Ont., June 28 (AP)—The celebrated "Handicap Kids" of Corbeil reached the halfway mark today in their incubator ride to life's scratch line. A month old, the Dionne quintuplets gurgled delightedly and went right on getting bigger and stronger while an entire continent helped and hoped.

Four more weeks and they will have attained the life-expectancy for normal children at birth, estimates the short, stocky country practioner, Dr. A. R. Dafoe, who attended the infants at their premature birth in the early morning of May 28. He described their condition today as "satisfactory."

AMERICAN LEGION JUNIORS WILL PLAY SENIORS SATURDAY

Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Athletic Field there will be a baseball game between the American Legion Junior team and the Seniors. The battery for the seniors will be City Judge Fernard A. Culloton, pitching, Les Barth, catching.

THE JOINERS

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies

There will be a regular meeting of Minnewaska Tribe this evening at 28 Pine Grove avenue to meet with the Great Chiefs. Every Red Man is asked to be out to see them and smoke the pipe of peace. Meeting starts at 8 o'clock.

Langer Appears Victor

Fargo, N. D., June 28 (AP)—The campaign of "vindication" of William Langer, North Dakota's convicted governor, bore fruit today when returns from Wednesday's primary showed his apparent renomination. Facing probable court actions challenging his right to hold office or to have his name placed on the ballot in the November general election, the state's chief executive had what appeared to be a decisive lead over T. H. Thoresen, candidate of the anti-Langer faction of the Non-Partisan League and State Senator James P. Cain, for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

A Royal Baptism

Brussels, June 28 (AP)—Bundled up in precious Flanders lace the red-cheeked baby Prince of Liege was christened this morning at a state ceremony at the parish Church of St. Jacques Sur Coudenberg. It was the second baptism of the royal infant, the first having taken place a few hours after his birth June 6. The ceremony today was performed by Cardinal Archbishop Van Roey, who pronounced again the many names of the little prince: Albert Umberto Felix Theodore Christian Eugene Marie.

Riots in Milwaukee

Milwaukee, June 28 (AP)—Rioting which broke out on four fronts interrupting street car service, gave a more serious aspect today to the walkout of employes of the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Company. Some 20,000 persons—pickets, sympathizers, strikers and hordes of curious — taxed the strength of one-half of Milwaukee's 1,000 police officers last night in renewed disorders in the city's troubled utility situation.

Local Death Record

Marlborough, June 28—Relatives and friends attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Deniase, which was held from her late home on Monday. Interment was in the Lattingtown cemetery.

William E. Canty died Wednesday at his home in Delhi. He was born and resided for many years in the town of Kingston, leaving there several years ago to reside in Delhi. He was a son of the late Michael and Mary Culley Canty, and is survived by one brother, James, of Delhi, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Plunkett, of this city. Funeral services from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home Saturday morning at 9 o'clock and thence to St. Ann's Church at Sawkill, where a Mass of requiem will be offered. Interment in St. Ann's Cemetery.

Funeral services for Mrs. Hazel Christiana Nenni, wife of Sylvester Nenni, were held this morning from the late residence, 78 O'Neil street and from Holy Cross Church at 10 o'clock. At the church the services were in charged of the Rev. A. A. Packard, rector of the church, with the Rev. Frederick Wielage of Rosendale deacon and the Rev. Paul Hartzell of St. Ann's, sub-deacon. Herman LaTour, Kingston tenor, sang two numbers, "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "On the Resurrection Morning." The high esteem in which Mrs. Nenni was held was testified to by the large number of beautiful floral tributes. Bearers were Otis V. Atkins, Albert C. Van Buren, Joseph B. Van Buren and Louis Crosby. Interment was in Wiltwyck cemetery.

Emanuel T. Cassimatis, one of the proprietors of the Plaza Lunch at 56 John street, died Wednesday at Saranac Lake after an illness of about two years. Known as "Mike" Mr. Cassimatis had a wide circle of friends and was well liked by all those who came in contact with him during his residence in Kingston. He is survived by his father and mother who reside in Greece, one brother, John Cassimatis of Greece, three sisters in Greece, and two cousins, who operate The Plaza Lunch, James and John Cassimatis. The body was brought from Saranac Lake Wednesday by Undertaker W. N. Conner and is now reposing in the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, 296 Fair street, where it may be viewed at any time. Funeral services will be held from the Funeral Home Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Montrepose cemetery.

SKIPPER HELD FOR HAVING COUNTERFEIT MONEY ON BOAT

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 28 (AP)—August Johnson, described by Federal authorities as skipper of the yacht "Take a Chance", was being held under $10,000 bail today on a charge of attempting to pass counterfeit currency.

The yacht was seized last week and an amount of what was said to be counterfeit money was found on board. United States District Attorney Leo Hickey said Johnson was the only one arrested. Whether he is the owner of the yacht has not been determined.

Johnson gave his address as 25 South street, New York, which is the same as that of the Seaman's Home.

By ORLO ROBERTSON.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

The Chicago Cubs' latest winning streak had tied today the season's record of seven consecutive victories and made the National League pennant race a little more uncomfortable for the pace setting New York Giants.

Charley Grimm's men opened the season with seven straight triumphs and that record was unequalled until the Braves went on a winning spree May 27. The Cubs opened their current drive June 21 in the second game of the series with the Giants and since then have beaten the world champions three times and the Dodgers in four games.

With Guy Bush showing a return to his early season form, the Cubs turned back the Dodgers 5 to 1 yesterday to shave the Giants' lead to one and one-half game with the help of the St. Louis Cardinals, who defeated the champions 8 to 7 and advanced within two games of the leaders.

The Pittsburgh Pirates and Boston Braves also gained, the former advancing within 5½ games of the leaders and the latter within six games. The Pirates made it four out of five from the Phillies with a 4 to 1 triumph. The Braves licked the Cincinnati Reds 8 to 4 as Wally Berger hit his 11th home run.

In the American League the New York Yankees gained a half-game on the idle Detroit Tigers as they won their fifth straight victory on the strength of Ben Chapman's eleventh inning homer and some fine relief pitching by "Fordham" Johnny Murphy. The score was 8 to 7 with the Chicago White Sox the losers.

The Boston Red Sox scored their first shutout of the season in beating the Cleveland Indians 6 to 0.

THE Sportlight BY GRANTLAND RICE

Over the Border.

(To Ed Thorpe, Parke Davis, Stan White, Billy Lahiff and so many who have crossed lately.)

The song will start and the candles gleam, for the game must still go on—
But we stop and turn as we look around for the pals who have passed and gone;
For a friendly hail and a friendly grip, in the room where the lights once burned—

All that we bring to the Inn is this—the traveler's cloak we wear,
All that we take from the Inn is this—wherever the road may fare;
All that we get from the Inn is this—the pals that we know are true.

On with the traveler's cloak again, as we call from the restless throng,

Form and Condition.

Forty-four years goes back a long way in American sport. Yet that is the service Keene Fitzpatrick, one of Natick's immortals with Mike Murphy, has given to coaching, training and conditioning the youth of his country in football, track and field, crew and other sports.

In that time he never missed a day's work from his profession, until he retired—semi-officially—lately at Princeton.

In the great rush of sport, which has gripped the imagination of the younger people from ten to twenty, more than a few millions of fathers have been deeply interested in just how their sons—and also their daughters—should be trained and handled from the viewpoints of health and also athletic success.

"From my study and observations of forty-four years, I am very much against younger people going in too strongly for competitive sport. Between the ages of ten and fifteen they should be taught form and fundamentals—never overworked or overtrained to meet and beat some rival. I have seen too many promising young stars burned out before they were ready to face the pressure of competition.

"A younger athlete is quite likely to wreck form and fundamentals, to take on faulty habits, in his keenness to win.

The Fitzpatrick Formula.

"Don't you think," I asked, "that young athletes are overtrained, rather than undertrained?"

"Without question," he answered.

"They wear away the nerve reserve, the mental and physical keenness needed for a hard test. I'm against boys from ten to fifteen years of age playing our modern game of football, competitively. Let them learn to kick and pass, to handle the ball. Their bones are not yet ready for the collision period. That goes for older boys, unless they are matched against opponents of their own weight and years."

"What is your opinion," I asked, "of a four-mile crew race?"

"I'm against that, also," Keene said. "I think four miles is too great a distance. It may be all right for several members of the crew, but it may also be a bad thing for others, not quite so strong, giving everything they have to keep up with the others.

"After all," he said, "we are not supposed to be in sport for the sole purpose of breaking records. The main idea must be health, diversion, training along the lines of coordination and concentration. I am a great believer in going out to win. But not until you are equipped and ready. That must come first. After all, there is still a life beyond the ages of twenty-two or twenty-four."

"Only recently," I said, "the father of a star young athlete brought his son around for a consultation. The boy of sixteen was a star in five sports. Isn't that too many?"

"Entirely too many," Keene said. "One sport in the fall and one in the spring is enough for anyone. I mean—competitive sport. A friendly game of golf or tennis is different. I don't believe in too much hard running for younger people. Let them walk or jog, build up their legs, and so get ready for the test later on when they are better developed. This is a fast age. Few have time to wait. So the younger stars need careful watching—careful training.

"And that goes also," he added, "for men over fifty trying to play thirty-six holes of golf. Many of them can stand it. Others, with some organic trouble, can't. And some of these find it out too late."

Rain Postpones Canzoneri Fight

New York, June 25 (AP)—Weather permitting, Tony Canzoneri and Frankie Klick will stage their 10-round or less lightweight fight at Ebbets Field tonight to determine the challenger for Barney Ross's crown. The fight was postponed from last night because of rain.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

Chicago—Frank Sigillo, 136½, Chicago, knocked out Pete Nebo, 137½, Key West, Fla., (8); Lenny Cohen, 119, Chicago, outpointed Bobby O'Dowd, 120, Sioux City, Ia., (6).

Rosendale to Play Milton on Sunday

Sunday, July 1, Rosendale baseball team will play Milton at Maple Hill field at 3 p. m.

Schryvers Decide to Keep Out of Further Debt by Calling Off Big Attractions—Will Look to Local Clubs For Opposition.

No more New York teams at the Kingston Fair Grounds it was decided Wednesday night by the Schryver All Stars at their meeting to solve the problem to keep them out of further debt.

The decision was a hard one to make. Schryvers have been playing good ball, turning in their share of victories over some of the best semi-pro clubs available and the forced vote to quit booking them or go further into the red was everything but pleasant to John Ashdown, the manager of the Lambermen, and the players who have been doing their best.

In deciding to quit, the Schryvers made their choice effective immediately, calling off the game with Kitty Kelly's Manhattan All Stars Sunday and the contest with the Trenton nine set for July 4.

Although they have finished with the semi-pro clubs, the Schryvers are not all through for the season. They are planning to play some of the outstanding nines of Ulster county. Booking those should prove no difficult task as many of the teams have been hot after the Lambermen ever since the opening of the season. Hercules are strong for a battle and undoubtedly would oblige the boys of Johnny Ashdown any time they desire to fight it out. Stone Ridge is after the Lambermen too.

Metcalf Seeking Third Double Win in A. A. U.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 25 (AP)—When Ralph Metcalfe, negro sprint champion, dashes down the 100-yard and 220 courses in the A. A. U. games here this week-end for a first place in both events he will be notching a goal unequalled since the 1920's.

A sweep for the Marquette flash Saturday would give him his third consecutive double victory in the A. A. U. championships. Last week in Los Angeles, Metcalfe took his third consecutive double win in the N. C. A. A. games.

The only other athlete to make the mark is Dennis Waters, New York A. C. coach, who won both sprints in 1896, 1896 and 1897.

The arrival today of Glenn Cunningham of Kansas, world's fastest miler; a rejuvenating contingent from the New York A. C., and scattering stars from other sections were to complete the field.

Bill Bonthron of Princeton who won the N. C. A. A. mile in Los Angeles last week, and Gene Venzke of Pennsylvania, Cunningham's closest rivals in Saturday afternoon's 1500-meter classic, went through their first workouts yesterday.

Where Repentance Is Strong

Like other South Sea islanders, the Maoris believe in the taps, or tabu. They are taught not to touch the things that are forbidden, and if the taps is broken the transgressor suffers great agony of mind. Some have died in agony after learning that they had eaten some food that was forbidden.

2,500 See Kingston Police Spike Guns of Talbot Crew by 6-2 Score

Before one of the largest crowds that ever gathered for a game at the Athletic Field, 2,500 or so, Chief J. Allan Wood's police team and the nine of Lieutenant Matt Kelly of the U. S. Navy Destroyer Talbot, No. 114, battled to a 6-2 decision Wednesday evening, the coppers coming out on the long end of the score.

Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman, with "a little Dutch mill" windup, started the game with the gobs at bat. After the first ball, Freddie Stoudt tossed 'em over for the night stick wielders, fanning 10 batsmen and allowing only seven hits. Not one error was chalked up against the cops, which made Sergeant James V. Simpson, manager, coach and all around boss of the police team feel exceedingly good and stimulated his confidence that Kingston will take over Chief Brown's Newburgh tossers this summer.

Against Stoudt the Talbot crew used two pitchers. Haynes started on the mound and during the first three innings was hit freely by the pavement pounders. They got to him for six hits and as many runs, their full quota for the game.

Lieutenant Kelly went to the slab in the fourth and from then on it was goose-eggs for the cops who found his curves of the puzzling variety. The lieutenant, who holds the position of athletic officer of the Talbot, did give five hits of the not so gingery variety and never was in danger. Had he started on the hill, the result might have been different. Besides pitching a stellar game, Lieutenant Kelly featured with a nice triple in the seventh during which the sailors rallied and scored their only two runs.

Leading the Kingston attack with the willow was William "Molly" Leonard, the shortstop for the minions of the law. He hit safely three times out of as many tries. Fred Stoudt went to bat twice and connected each trip. Tom McGrane and West Cramer were credited with doubles.

For the sailors Richardson was the leading sticker, rapping two hits out of three chances. One of his smashes went for three bases and the other was a double.

Stanton, first navy batsman to face Stoudt, hit a single but after Montero fanned Stanton was caught off first by a nice throw by Frank Sammons to Wes Cramer, fast moving initial sacker for the cops. Ison ended the inning by grounding out.

Pete Keresman was the lead-off man for Kingston and fanned three times. Straley got a free pass. Tom McGrane doubled, Leonard singled, Stoudt singled and the sailors became baffled in going after the pill to give Kingston a 3-0 lead.

Pitcher Hayes got through the second inning without being scored against, but in the third the patrolmen cut up again, tallying three more runs. Straley singled and stole second. McGrane popped out. Leonard singled to score Straley. A walk to Stoudt and Cramer's double brought in two more.

With Haynes unable to handle the situation, Lieutenant Kelly went to mound and the Simponsites did no more scoring for the rest of the game.

Sailors Score in 7th.

The eventful seventh was the big inning for the Talbot boys. Stafford went to first on a high fly that the coppers didn't get, Penninger was safe on a fielder's choice as Leonard tagged Stafford at second. Richardson hit into the crowd in right field for a triple, bringing in first run. Lieutenant Kelly, going to bat with two down, hit a triple to right center, that Georgie Bowers, motorcycle cop, wasn't fast enough to spear, scoring Richardson. Haynes ended it all by grounding out.

Now that the police have a victory under their belts over the jolly tars they feel more certain of being able to furnish keener opposition for the Newburgh Police when the down-river bluecoats come to the Fair Grounds on July 30.

"If we could only play those cops in Panama", said one of the sailors after the game. "That's where we can win". Before coming here the bluejackets won in the canal zone and thought they could take the men of Chief Wood over the hurdles, but found them well versed in the old American game which they played yesterday without an error.

Trophy From Cordts

Although they lost the sailors have something pleasant by which to remember the game, a beautiful silver trophy consisting of a model of a baseball player on black base with an appropriate inscription engraved. The trophy was the gift of Police Commissioner John N. Cordts and was presented to the sailors by Peter Keresman, president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association.

To President Keresman goes the credit for arranging the game between the bluejackets and cops, he having taken the matter up with Lieutenant Kelly while on police duty near the destroyer Talbot.

This evening the sailors are scheduled to play Jack Clair's Mayflowers at Hasbrouck Park. Starting time of the game is 6.15 o'clock. Expectations are that another large gathering of fans will be at this battle.

EXCELSIOR HOSE ANNUAL BLOCK PARTY

Excelsior Hose Company will hold its annual block party on the evening of July 3, the eve of Fourth of July, on Hurley avenue near the corner of Washington avenue. Dancing will commence at 9 o'clock and continue until the guests desire to depart. The last block party held by Excelsiors was such a huge success that it was necessary to hold the affair two evenings.

Committees for the affair were appointed at a meeting Wednesday night. The street will be artistically decorated and illuminated with colored lights and huge flood lights will be installed. There will be refreshments on the mid-way consisting of sandwiches, hot dogs, ice cream and cold drinks. The refreshments will be in charge of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the company.

The committee in charge of securing music expects to have one of the leading local orchestras to supply music for dancing.

WILLOW

Willow, June 28—Mrs. W. N. Emary and family have opened their camp in Ideal Park and will remain for the summer. Mrs. Emary and family have been in Cape Town, South Africa, for the last year, where Mr. Emary was engaged in business.

Mrs. Ida Schaffer of New York city is visiting her sister, Mrs. August Hagermeyer.

Mrs. William Balback and family of Brooklyn arrived last Thursday and will occupy the Toby cottage in Ideal Park for the season.

Mrs. C. E. Wonderly and daughter and Mrs. Wheeler and daughter, all of Kingston, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. MacKenzie on Sunday.

The "Win and Work" Society will meet with Mrs. Charles T. MacKenzie at "Fern Brook" this week.

Mrs. W. P. Riley of Brooklyn, N. Y., arrived last Wednesday and opened her cottage for the season. Mrs. G. S. Boyce of New York city accompanied Mrs. Riley and will remain for the season.

Jiu Jitsu

Jiu jitsu means literally the art of making one's opponent use his strength to his own disadvantage. It is not a system of muscle building by physical training, but rather a means of offsetting the effectiveness of powerful muscles by performing the most simple but skillful maneuvers. It is a scientific application of the knowledge of the weaker spots in the human anatomy. Every trick that would be accounted "foul" in wrestling and boxing is the height of excellence in jiu jitsu. This science is taught to officers and enlisted men of the Japanese army, navy and the police force. The United States government has recognized its importance by having it taught at West Point and at Annapolis as a special training.

Wooden Plows

Wooden plows are not only still common, but efficient for their task. On some clay lands they are preferred to iron because the clay does not stick to them so much, says Tit-Bits Magazine. They are most common in East Anglia, and at Maldon, Essex, there is a firm that has been making them for 120 years. To this day they exhibit and sell them at shows such as the "Royal," where they take their place among the most up-to-date electrical and petrol appliances.

Be Humane

Ownership of a dog carries the responsibility of care, and no one has a right to come into possession of a pet with the idea of abandoning it later.

Boxing Fans Anxious to See Julie Katz in Action Friday

When Announcer Samuel J. Eibere steps into the ring Friday night at the Municipal Auditorium and introduces Julie Katz he will be presenting one boxer that Kingstonians and fight fans of this vicinity have been waiting to see for a long time.

JULIE KATZ.

Julie, twice a champion in the Golden Gloves, has been introduced as a guest of fistiana here several times, but never as a contestant and the patrons of fisticuffs are anxious to see just what he looks like in combat. They want to see the brand of punching that has won 13 out of 14 fights for Katz since he entered the professional ranks.

Katz will display what he has in the way of ring talent against Artie Spiedermann, a boy who has exchanged leather with the best of them, including Kid Chocolate, the Cuban Bon Bon, former featherweight champion. Spiedermann slugged away for 10 rounds with the new deposed king of the feather class, giving him what the ringsiders call "a whale of a scrap."

Katz and Spiedermann should make one of the best matches ever seen here, opine the boys of the American League in charge of boxing, and hope to see their predictions enjoyed by a record crowd of fight fans.

The scrap is scheduled for eight rounds, being one of two star features. The other will show Joe Leone against Benny Brostoff. These two have done lots of ring campaigning and have records to be proud of. Leone has won 64 fights out of 71, and holds a decision over Leonard "Young" Zazzarino, whom he beat when the hard fighting Italian was at his best. Brostoff has slugged with all of them, recently having battled with Vittorio Tamangini, Italy's chief lightweight in his American debut at Ft. Hamilton. The fight went five rounds, being stopped because of a cut over Brostoff's left eye.

Supporting these two duels are a six rounder between those two slugging heavyweights, Clem Smith of West Hurley and Vic Neilson, the Dangerous Dane from New York; another sixer between Freddy Raymond and Irving Eldridge and a four bringing together Routier Parra of Chile and Beezy Thomas of Africa.

Advance ticket sales indicate a crowd for the scraps, which promise to be as good as the last card that thrilled the house full of patrons.

Men's Club Card Party.

The Men's Club of St. John's Church will hold a card party this evening at the parish house on Albany avenue. Pinochle and bridge have been arranged and the committee hopes for a large crowd.

N. R. A. C. vs. Brownies.

The North Rondout A. C. will play the Brownie A. S. this evening at the Kingston Fair grounds at 6:15 o'clock. Battery for the N. R. A. C. will be Wolf, pitcher; Lindhorst, catcher.

Revolving Sign Used by Church in Texas

Fort Worth, Texas.—A unique revolving sign, propelled by two electric fans, now announces the location of the church of Dr. J. Frank Norris, Fort Worth's Baptist minister.

The sign is the only moving church sign in Fort Worth, a departure from the staid cornerstone name plates, and is believed the only one in the state.

It is rectangular and is located atop of Doctor Norris' church. It revolves on a shaft. On each end of the sign, facing opposite directions, is an electric fan, providing locomotive power.

One side of the sign reads: "First Baptist Church." The other side reads: "J. Frank Norris."

Steve Leskie Writes About C. C. C. Camp

C. C. C. Camp 22, Co. 209
Cold Springs, N. Y.

The Freeman
Downtown, City.

Editor:

I would appreciate it very much if you could find space in your paper to print the following letter.

Yours,
STEVE LESKIE, JR.

Dear Friends:

As the last Friday of the month draws to an end and the gathering shadows of night hover over the camp it will be more than just another day drawing to a close. For many of the men, some 39, it will mean the last night in the C. C. C. These fellows, the last of the original 209th Company, which was originated last June at Fort Hamilton, will leave the camp Saturday, June 30th, as their enrollment is ended.

You cannot live with men over a year, sharing your clothes, shirts, money and everything else you had, without missing each other when you leave them.

As they lie in their bunks that last Friday they will go back to their first hectic days at the Fort, their first month at the old camp at Tompkins Corners, moving day and new barracks and the good times they had together.

They could lie abed all night thinking of the camp and the fellows. What a great gang! They hope they see each other a lot from time to time in the future.

And so, Joey Gerbino, on that last Friday night, will blow that bugle as he never blew it before. "Fare them well" and "Good bye, old pals." He will let his bugle say the things we cannot find the courage to say for fear of becoming maudlin.

They take the opportunity to thank Capt. Pulch, Lieut. Maher and Lieut. Kearns for their kind treatment of them. They are a credit to the service, and above all they thank the fathers for saying Mass Sunday in and Sunday out, in the camp.

Well, I guess they will find space in this wide world to get along in. I wish them luck as I will want some one to wish me luck when I leave.

Yours truly,
STEVE LESKIE, JR.

Redhead Club Sees "Red" Over Accusations of Dye

Des Moines. — Thirteen flaming haired members of the Des Moines State House "Redhead Club" saw "red" recently when it was challenged that they were "dyed in the hair" rather than "dyed in the wool" redheads.

The accusation came on a post card signed "Katherine Hepburn." But the card was mailed in Des Moines. The author said she had been employed in the state house for several months. The redheads are searching for the unjust assailant, who declared that out of the 13 heads of flaming red locks "only one is genuine."

Excess of Elm, Maple Seeds Threat to Trees

Madison, Wis.—Overproduction of elm and soft maple seeds in southern Wisconsin this spring is threatening to kill many of the trees, according to a bulletin issued by the state agriculture and markets commission.

The trees produced many times the normal number of seeds to compensate for unusual weather conditions last year, E. L. Chambers, entomologist, said. The drouth early in June a year ago impaired development of seed buds.

This spring the drouth came later and may kill the trees which have weakened themselves by overproduction of the seeds.

Petrified Logs in Monument

Elensburg, Wash. — The proposed Ginkgo national monument near here contains approximately 2,000 petrified logs, valued at $1,000 each. Among the logs is a petrified ginkgo tree, which grows today only in China and Japan, evidence that Washington once had a tropical climate.

First Use of Gas in War

The earliest recorded use of suffocating gases in military operations was at the siege of the cities of Plataea and Belium in the war between the Athenians and the Spartans, about 431 B. C. Here sulphur was burned and the fumes were employed to harass the enemy.

FRANCE HOLDS RARE OLD INDIAN RELICS

Interesting Collection Was Taken Abroad in 1786.

Paris—One of the most valuable and artistic discoveries made in years is that of a collection of North American Indian bison, deer, and elk skins, costumes and paintings, found in the library at Versailles.

Several months' research concerning this unique collection has revealed that these relics were brought to France in 1786 for the purpose of instructing the royal princes in the geography and art of the early settlers of the great continent across the sea.

No documentation whatever was discovered with the collection, so that the problem of dating and fathoming the stories and legends depicted thereon has necessitated much historical research. The largest number deal with the Sioux and Algonquin tribes and the exhibit, now on view at the Ethnographical museum at the Trocadero, is to become a permanent part of the museum.

Increasing in Importance.

The curator, M. Georges Henri Riviere, whose American wife is here on a trip of several weeks from her work at the Toledo museum, says that the discovery of these North American Indian relics increase in importance as the work of deciphering the hieroglyphics goes forward.

A collection of Eighteenth century paintings of the American Indians also is shown. One of the most interesting of these shows a game of ball which resembles la crosse. According to history, this is a very warlike game, there being no rules against roughness of any sort. The Indians all wore a sort of stiffened tail feather which was arched so that when they fell or some one fell on them, it acted as a spring and they rebounded from the ground, or bounced the person off of them and escaped injury.

Intricate Designs.

The women were supposed to have dreamed most of the designs worked out in bison, deer, and elk skins, and they used quantities of porcupine quills in ornamentation. Their clay coloring matters have lasted with incredible distinction, the delicate blues, pinks, greens, and yellows—like pastel chalk—are as clear today as when applied more than a hundred years ago. Quite a number of the objects were gathered in 1786 by M. Fayolle, French colonial representative in the United States, at the request of Marquis de Serent, for the children of the Count d'Artois, the Duke d'Angouleme, and the Duke de Berri. The city of Versailles has consented to hand over the entire collection to the Trocadero in exchange for certain historic objects to be transferred to Versailles.

$600,000 Chewing Gum Exported to China in '33

The traditional Chinese equivalent of gum is the watermelon seed, of which tons and tons are consumed each year throughout the width and breadth of this vast land.

While western movies and airplanes and bombs have made deep inroads into Chinese social customs, the chewing gum idea apparently has not made much progress, except possibly in the metropolis of Shanghai, which is reported to absorb about half the total gum imports.

Few Chinese pass a day without cracking a few dried seeds between their teeth, and it is estimated that every Chinese disposes of at least ten seeds a day. If an arbitrary population of 400,000,000 is accepted it will be seen that gum has a long way to go.

Except for Shanghai, the only other places in which chewing gum has been able to get a tooth-hold are Peiping, Tientsin and a few other cities of similar size. Out in the provinces the watermelon seed remains first in the affections of all Chinamen as a tasty pastime.

LAKE KATRINE P.-T. A. HELD FINAL MEETING OF SPRING

Lake Katrine, June 28—The last regular meeting of the P.-T. A. was held on Tuesday evening, June 12. All officers were present.

In response to the president's request for a summary of work accomplished last year all chairmen gave gratifying reports. The secretary, Mr. Morehouse, said there had been a 6% per cent attendance at meetings. Mrs. H. Kentor reported milk purchased for children who desired it, also paper cups, toweling and song books for the school. Through Mrs. Myron Boice, (in charge of programs), and others, there were some excellent speakers obtained. Mrs. Arthur Russell, Miss Katherine Murphy, the Hon. G. D. B. Hasbrouck, the Hon. Edward Conway, James Simpson, P. Hendricks. Through the courtesy of the Mt. Marion unit the local group was privileged to hear Dr. Walter H. Thayer, state commissioner of correction.

At the close of school a picnic was arranged but owing to rain was held in the Grange hall, where a bountiful supper was served to nearly 100 parents and children.

Mrs. Forde, Mrs. TenBrouck and Mrs. Everett, delegates to the conference at Newburgh recently, were most enthusiastic over the day spent there and all mentioned the inspiring address of Dr. Nash. Mrs. Frank Forde, the president for the coming year, appointed the following committees: Ways and means, Mrs. Pratt Boice, Mrs. Culver TenBrouck, Mrs. Copeland Gates, Mrs. Custer Riley and Mrs. Frank Eaalet; child welfare, Mrs. Harold Keator; membership, Mrs. Hugh Furgerson, Mrs. John Cook, Mrs. D. Morehouse, Mrs. J. Wallace; publicity, Mrs. Graham Parrish.

Homemade ice cream and cake were served by Mrs. P. Boice, Mrs. M. Boice and Mrs. C. Riley.
